POOL CHARGED IN RADIO SUIT FILED BY U.S.

Ten Corporations Made Defendants in Action at Wilmington.

SHERMAN ANTITRUST LAW USED AS BASIS

Patent Arrangements of Firms Held Creation of Monopoly.

COURT SETTLEMENT WELCOMED BY YOUNG

Case Begun After Repeated Attacks Against Firms on Senate Floor.

A suit under the Sherman antitrust act "to test the legality of arrangements" among the Radio Corporation, the General Electric, Westinghouse, American Telephone & Telegraph and six other corporations has been filed in the district court at Wilmington, Del., it was announced yesterday by the Department of Justice.

The six other corporations referred to are the Western Electric Corporation, Inc., the R. C. A. Photophone Co., Inc., the R. C. A. Radiotrone Corporation, Inc., R. C. A. Victor Co., Inc., General Motors Radio Corporation and the General Motors Corporation.

"The patent arrangements made between several of the defendants," the Department of Justice statement explained, "have steadily increased in number and enlarged in scope until the defendants now practically have control of the radio business and its development. This coptrol has been brought about by a novel method of cross licensing patents.

Patent Pool Charged.

"The suit is concerned chiefly with the legality of these patent arrangements. The petition filed alleges that the defendants, most of whom are competitors, by issuing patent licenses to one another, have created a patent combination or pool through which they exercise joint control over the radio industry and that competition among them has ceased, and that no outsider can obtain a license except on terms jointly prescribed by the chief defendants.

"The petition also alleges that the proposed reorganization recently submitted to stockholders of Radio Corporation would have the effect of perpetuating the control already obtained by the defendants.

"The defendants, on the other hand, have earnestly contended that they are doing nothing more than they are authorized to do under the patent laws.

Suit Follows Senate Attacks.

"The situation is an intricate one, and it is desirable that these vexed questions be settled in the courts."

The suit comes as a climax to repeated attacks on the Radio Corporation in the Senate and on numerous occasions the department has been criticized for its failure to proceed against the alleged radio monopoly.

An alleged monopoly in the sale of radio tubes has been under fire before the Radio Commission, but it has been generally conceded that this case was allowed to hang fire pending action of the Department of Justice.

Several months ago the Senate committee on interstate commerce, acting at the instance of Senator Couzens, called upon the department for a report as to what it was doing with reference to the various complaints against the Radio Corpora-

Diplomats in War Called Failures

Dawes Declares Specialy Appointed Men Got Things Done.

London, May 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The American diplomatic service abroad was a complete failure during the World War, United States Ambassador Charles Gates Dawes told guests at the tenth annual reunion dinner of British official missions to the United States here tonight.

Ambassador Dawes meant a failure, not in the normal business of diplomacy, but in the field of making international arrangements for supply of food stuffs, munitions and raw materials. He outlined to his audience how special missions and commissions, especially appointed officials, cut the red tape of formal orthodox diplomacy and got things done. Out of that work and experience, he said, grew what he called the "new diplomacy."

This topic is a favorable theme of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, together with the belief that specially appointed envoys are better than career men. He had already expressed similar views in at least one previous speech here.

Detective W. F. Burke Is Reduced to Ranks

Man Involved in Crotts Shooting to Serve as Patrolman.

WILLIAM F. BURKE.

William F. (Billy) Burke, Third Precinct detective, who was but recently restored to duty following his Police Trial Board hearing on charges of conduct prejudicial to the reputation, good order or discipline of the Police Department, which grew out of the shooting of James F. Crotts two months ago, has been reduced to the rang of a patrolman and has been ordered to duty in the Sixth Precinct.

His transfer from the Third Precinct takes effect tomorrow morning. As a third class patrolman, Burke will wear a uniform and will suffer a loss in pay of 20 a month.

His reduction is the second he has undergone within six years. His first demotion came following his conviction in Police Court on a charge of drunkenness, with a subsequent conviction before the Police Trial Board, in 1924.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, last night declared Burke's transfer and reduction were made at Burke's own request. Capt. William G. Stott, Burke's commanding office in the Third Precinct, in answer to a query said that he had recommended the action "for the good of the service." He intimated that he had taken his action on his own initiative and without any outside influence.

Burke, long a picturesque figure in police ranks, was suspended from duty March 22 following a police investigation of Crott's shooting. He was accused of having asked for a nolle prosse in the case of Rose Foster, who did not appear for trial after her arrest on a charge of maintaining

WITNESSES WARNED IN SENATE FUND QUIZ

Norris Says Refusal to Talk Will Be Followed by Contempt Charge.

CUNNINGHAM CASE CITED

Witnesses who may be summoned by the Senate's campaign expenditures committee were put on notice yesterday that refusal to answer pertinent questions on campaign funds will be prosecuted for contempt of the Senate.

The notice was served by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, in the form of a resolution asking Leo A. Rover, district attorney in Washington, for specific information on the status of the case of Thomas W. Cunningham, Philadelphia Republican leader, indicted in 1928 for declining to enlighten the Reed campaign committee on certain funds which found their way in the war chest of William S. Vare, senatorial candidate.

The Cunningham case finally went to the Supreme Court as the result of habeas corpus proceedings instituted by the Philadelphian, and the substance of the decision of the high tribunal was to hold Cunningham in contempt of the Senate. According to Senator Norris the last heard of the case was the motion of the Government in the Circuit Court of Appeals, Third Circuit, for a rehearing, the Supreme Court having reversed the circuit court. The senator's resolution demanded to know what disposition had been made of the case and why Cunningham "had not been put on trial upon the charge contained in the indictment."

"The object I had in introducing this resolution," said Senator Norris in reply to an inquiry of Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, "is to let the committee that recently has been appointed, headed by Senator Nye, to investigate expenditures in primaries election contest over senatorships, know and let the country know, that witnesses appearing before the committee are required under a decision of the Supreme Court to answer all pertinent questions. I also wanted the witnesses to know that if they refuse to answer questions they will be punished."

Mr. Norris contneded that, as a matter of law, Cunningham should be brought to the bar of the Senate, despite the fact that the Vare case has

KANSAS PROSECUTOR HELD IN LIQUOR RING

More Than Score Arrested by 45 Agents in Huge Clean-Up Drive.

6,700 GALLONS NABBED

Wichita, Kans., May 13 (A.P.).—A Kansas county prosecutor of high standing, an accused "king-pin" bootlegger and more than a score other persons were caught in wholesale arrests of what Federal agents declared was the most extensive liquor "pay off" ring in the history of the Kansas-Oklahoma-Nebraska prohibition enforcement district.

Forty-five prohibition officers, led by Dan B. Cowle, deputy United States district attorney, struck unexpectedly late last night and today in central Kansas and diverted a flood of whisky and other contraband to Government storage places.

Heading the ring, officers said, was Everett C. Minner, for three terms county attorney of Ford County and a respected Dodge City lawyer. Charged with trying to bribe John Madden, assistant district prohibition administrator, and with giving him several thousand dollars, Minner pleaded not guilty over long distance telephone today to Oliver Fenn, United States commissioner at Hutchinson, and was to furnish $15,000 bail.

The alleged master distiller, Marcus George, Wichita, for whose stills and secret caches the Government alleges Minner sought "protection" from Madden, was freed late today on $20,000 bond following arraignment on conspiracy charges here before Commissioner George Ashford.

Other accused conspirators, still hands, and bootleggers were taken here, at Dodge City and Hutchinson. Six thousand gallons of whisky, 700 of alcohol, 6 stills, 7 motor cars, 7 "plants," tons of sugar, rye and other contraband poured in a seemingly endless stream into the Wichita municipal farm all day.

George H. Wark, Topeka Federal prohibition administrator for the district, characterized the clean-up as "the most extensive ever made in his three-State area."

At Dodge City Minner denied any irregularities in his office and said his arrest was a "mistake."

Cowle declared Minner, falling into a trap set for him by Madden, gave

Hoover Intimates Fishing Will Ban Politics on Trip

Talks Amusingly to White House Correspondents About Relaxation.

President Hoover yesterday caused to be broadcast through the press of the country the inference that his forthcoming summer trip through the West and to the National parks would be devoted to fishing and not to political speech-making.

Mr. Hoover, at the White House, entertained the corps of newspapermen, present at the biweekly conference, with a humorous account of the nonpolitical interests of fish and fishermen. He said that since the majority of the persons he expects to meet on the Western trip, in August, would be fishermen politics should be taboo.

However, while the White House was apparently attempting to soften the opinion which seems to have

Antisaloon League Head Asserts That Speech "Was Great."

COPIES OF ADDRESS WERE DISTRIBUTED

Dry Chief Admits Support of Representatives Who Drink.

PACT WITH COOLIDGE BARED BY RECORDS

Lobbied With House Members of Federal Jurist Later Impeached.

The recent speech of Representative Franklin Fort (Republican), New Jersey, advocating continuance of the prohibition law to satisfy the drys and home brew for the wets who want to drink, was indorsed yesterday by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League. He also told the Senate lobby committee the league supports wet-drinking dry-voting congressmen. He has seen some drinking among members of Congress, Dr. McBride said.

Other revelations from the day's hearing included:

That Dr. McBride had lobbied with members of the House of Representatives in 1926 on behalf of Federal Judge George W. English, of East St. Louis, Ill., just before the House voted to impeach the judge.

Understanding With Coolidge.

That official records of the league mentioned an "unmistakable understanding" with former President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon regarding the appointment of a prohibition commissioner in 1927.

That Dr. McBride in a secret report to his board of directors at their meeting in Detroit last January declared that most of the activities of the Washington office "have to do with the securing of the right kind of appointees."

That the league, this year, supported Representative Denison (Republican), Illinois, who votes dry and who is still under indictment for an alleged violation of the prohibition law growing out of the famous leaky trunk incident in connection with his return from Panama more than a year ago.

League Evidences Approval.

With reference to the Fort compromise plan for a solution of the prohibition question, Dr. McBride declared "it was a great speech" and said that the league had distributed large numbers of copies as an evidence of approval. He declared he had not heard rumors that Mr. Fort plans to run as a dry candidate for the Senate in New Jersey this year and denied that the New Jersey State League had threatened to oppose Dwight W. Morrow for the same office if Mr. Morrow runs as a wet.

DANIELS LEADS NEW ATTACK ON BISHOP CANNON

Former Navy Secretary, at Methodist Meeting, Frames Charges.

SCORE OF DELEGATES JOIN IN HIS MOVEMENT

Dealings in Stock Market Basis of New Contest Before Conference.

CONSTITUTION PLAN DEFEATED DECISIVELY

Dallas Convention Votes to Keep Episcopal Form by 205-188 Ballot.

Dallas, Tex., May 13 (A.P.).—Josephus Daniels, member of the North Carolina delegation to the convention here of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, joined by twenty others, was preparing charges tonight against Bishop James Cannon, jr., for engaging in stock market activities, Daniels announced.

The former Secretary of the Navy also was joined by G. T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn., and Judge J. G. McGowen, member of the Supreme Court of Mississippi and a delegate from the northern Mississippi conference, in preparing the charges.

They were awaiting a hearing before the episcopacy committee of the general conference and would not discuss details of the charges.

Constitution Is Voted Down.

The episcopal form of government in the church triumphed today when the conference voted down by a decisive majority the proposed new constitution.

The document, representing four years of labor by a commission and 28 years of agitation in the church for a written body of laws, would have required a two-thirds majority for adoption. The vote was 188 for and 205 against.

Although presaged by the large number of amendments which had been tacked on the bill representing the opposed views of many factions in the church, defeat of the constitution was immediately preceded by the declarations that the paper would radically change church law from an episcopal to a congregational form of government.

Elected Bishops Held Peril.

This charge was based on amendments curtailing the power of bishops and changing their term of office from life to a fixed number of years. Dr. F. J. Prettyman, of Baltimore, declared: "When you adopt the practice of electing your bishops you make of them not bishops, consecrated to a life of godly service, but merely presidents of a conference."

Dr. Prettyman also predicted political elections, not only of bishops, but of ministers, should a bishop's election depend on the quadrennial good will of the members of his conference.

Although the mooted question of bishropric tenure was temporarily

Timid Shut Windows As Monkey Runs Free

Policeman in Anacostia Climbs Tree But Simian Swings Nimbly to Others and Posses Later Scour Woods in Vain.

There's monkey business in Anacostia, and uneasiness in homes of the more timid. For in the dark jungles between Morris road and the Potomac, one of Tarzan's playmates last night was swinging from limb to limb, his beady little eyes on the lookout for any open window that might promise food.

The monkey isn's very big, and he must be somebody's pet; judging by his collar. But he's free, and he's hungry.

Jocko was treed by a police dog yesterday afternoon, in the yard of a colored physician living at Bryant street, just off the Morris road. While juveniles gathered with sticks and bricks, police of the Eleventh Precinct hurried to the scene.

Policeman H. Hiltner, who is of Italian extraction, pleaded with the monkey in approved organ grinder's parlance. He cajoled and threatened and offered peanuts, but the monkey was obdurate.

Then Anacostia residents were treated to the sight of a policeman clambering up trees. As fast as Policeman Hiltner would climb one tree, Jocko would swing nimbly to the next. Winded and "regusted" the policeman retired for a conference.

Returning to the last tree that had barked his shins, he found no trace of the monkey. Aided by a dozen dogs of as many or more varieties, posses scoured the woods for more than an hour in a hunt that recalled the panther episode of bygone months.

Finally the chase was abandoned. The police retired and neighbors hastened to batten down windows as darkness fell. Several residents of the community unchained their dogs before retiring.

Then, shortly before midnight the monkey was sighted in another tree in the same neighborhood, and the chase started again. More policemen were to be added to the hunting squad this morning.

BORAH IGNORES PLEA OF STIMSON TO HOLD PACT QUIZ IN SECRET

Requests Predicated on Fear of International Complications.

VIEW HELD PEOPLE SHOULD HAVE FACTS

Secretary and Robinson, of Indiana, Clash at Inquiry.

FLOOR DEBATE DUE ON SAFETY CLAUSE

Head of State Department Fails to Mention This Feature of Treaty.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Searching investigation of the London Naval Treaty by the Senate foreign relations committee threatens to produce so much important information that a demand for secret sessions will probably be made by supporters of the treaty today. Secretary Stimson found it necessary on five different occasions yesterday to suggest that discussion of particular points be conducted in executive session.

Senator Borah, chairman of the committee, has been opposed to secret sessions on the ground that the public is entitled to have the facts on matters vitally important to their national welfare and on the further ground that the treaty will be debated in public on the floor of the Senate and that nothing would be gained by secrecy at the committee hearings.

The sensitiveness of foreign powers is apparently regarded by Mr. Borah as less important than the inherent right which the American people have to be given the facts about matters so intimately concerning them. Mr. Borah so far has been supported by a majority of the committee.

Stimson is Frank.

Secretary Stimson, who made a frank and at times convincing presentation of his case before the committee yesterday, is admittedly in a very difficult position because of the public hearings. His very frankness yesterday may cause complications in London and especially in Tokyo. Besides assuring the committee that Great Britain has received the worst of the bargain on at least one point, the Secretary said that the American delegation had persuaded the Japanese delegation to sign a treaty whereby the Japanese navy stands still and allows a rival power, America, to pass her in naval strength. Mr. Stimson also said that the Japanese would be better off without the treaty than with it.

Complimentary references which Mr. Stimson made to Japanese fairness may have a soothing effect in Tokyo, but it is clear that all references to advantages gained by the American delegation at the expense of the Japanese delegation may cause trouble for the latter delegation with its own people. The delicacy of the situation which developed from the questioning of Mr. Stimson is reflected in each case where the Secretary suggested executive sessions.

The first suggestion of an executive session came from Mr. Stimson in connection with the discussion of the British superbattleships, the Nelson and the Rodney. Senator Hiram Johnson asked:

Loath to Give Views.

"Is there any marked superiority between the Nelson and the Rodney and the best ships that we have?"

Secretary Stimson was loath to explain his views on this matter in public and made it clear that he believes the Nelson and Rodney are overrated and that their fighting strength has been exaggerated in the public mind. But this, he said, "is a matter for naval experts rather than for me to explain and for an executive session rather than for a public one."

The second suggestion of an executive session came during the discus-

Former Asiatic Fleet Chieftain in Hospital

Rear Adm. W. L. Rodgers Suffers From Serious Eye Ailment.

REAR ADM. WILLIAM C. RODGERS.

Rear Admiral William Ledyard Rodgers, U. S. N., retired, of 1738 R street northwest, was admitted yesterday to the Wilmer Eye Institute in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, suffering from a serious eye ailment.

His condition last night was reported as "favorable," although it warranted a visit to his bedside by his sister, Mrs. Robert Giles, who left their home here to remain in Baltimore temporarily during his treatment.

The ailment, which not described, was declared to be a recurrence of a previous attack for which he was treated several years ago also by Dr. William Holland Wilmer before his institute was opened. Hospital attendants expressed the belief that Admiral Rodgers would be confined about two weeks.

Since his retirement on February 4, 1924, Admiral Rodgers has been active in social and service circles in this city, where he was born in 1860 and reared. He has made the Capital his home at intervals throughout his career.

He entered the Navy on June 11, 1874, and rose steadily until the World War, when as a rear admiral he was in command of the Asiatic fleet, with supervision of its extensive operations in the Far East. One of his highest honors came when he served as adviser for the American delegation in the Washington disarmament conference.

SHOLAPUR SEETHES UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Woman Leader of Gandhi's Cause Makes Plans for New Salt Raids.

PESHAWAR AREA QUIET

Bombay, India, May 13 (A.P.).—While the government tonight assembled in hurried conference, India's recalcitrant civil disobedience cohorts bided the call of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, their woman leader, to new efforts of resistance.

Sholapur, under martial law, seethed with hidden activity. Its more than 100,000 population scurried to cover with the arrival today of 1,000 additional troops and enactment of martial law. Under the surface of complete military control, followers of Mahatma Gandhi sought means of thwarting the increased threat over them.

Throughout the Indian domain arrests of illegal salt makers and depot raiders went on relentlessly. Courts sentenced the offenders to extreme penalties. Only Abbas Tyabji, the 80-year-old disciple, who succeeded Gandhi, and a few irresponsible boys apparently escaped severe prison labor terms. The tightening of government attitude everywhere was in evidence. It was estimated that from 200 to 500 natives had been seized, many of whom already were on their way to prison.

Sholapur's recent death list of twenty-odd was not swelled in today's dispatches. The Bombay situation was quieter and no trouble was reported elsewhere. It also was officially announced that for the first time in weeks the government was in absolute control in Peshawar, key city of the northwest.

Troops have mopped up the whole Peshawar area. As they swept sion of the 8-inch gun cruiser, as compared to the 6-inch gun ship of the same type. Mr. Stimson had made a strong appeal for the 6-inch gun ship and had minimized, almost to the vanishing point, the fighting efficiency of an 8-inch gun cruiser, which latter vessel he said had never been tried out in battle.

Sharp Series of Exchanges.

His statements along this line drew the fire of Senator Robinson, of Indiana, and a sharp series of exchanges followed, with Mr. Stimson firing back at Mr. Robinson's contention that battleships were likely to become obsolete, and that 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers would be the most powerful ships which any nation would build. Mr. Stimson also sharply challenged Mr. Robinson's intimation that members of the general board of the Navy favored the 8-inch type.

The discussion developed into a free-for-all argument until Senator Borah intervened by asking that the Secretary be allowed to finish his statement. Upon resuming, Mr. Stimson suggested an executive session if the committee desired to go further into the matter.

A fourth request for secret sessions followed a discussion of advantages which Mr. Stimson said the American delegation had gained in discussing parity of gun power with the British.

"Frankly," said Mr. Stimson, "the British felt we were way beyond parity in the matter of gun power, and they made a pretty good case of it. Again, I don't want to go into these matters which should be discussed in executive session."

Respecting negotiations with the Japanese delegation, Secretary Stimson said:

"Our problem was to ask Japan to stay still and let us build past her. That is what we persuaded Japan to do."

"I take off my hat to the Japanese government," the Secretary concluded.

After a brief discussion of the expenditure reductions based on particular comparisons, Secretary Stimson rested his case and informed the committee that he had covered the various parts of the treaty. He had gone over all features with one exception. He had not mentioned the safety clause, which permits the British to exceed the limitations if France makes this necessary, and which binds the United States to a form of compulsory consultation with Japan respecting such British increase.

Feature of Debate Looms.

It is this safety clause which will be the feature of the debate in the Senate because of proposals to attach a reservation giving America freedom of action in case the British exceed the limitations and because of a move to eliminate the last three lines binding America to take the advice of Japan before acting upon a building program occasioned by British determination to exceed the limits if France carries out her naval program.

Senator Borah reminded Mr. Stimson of the safety clause.

"Mr. Secretary," said the chairman, "I would like to have your views on Article 21, the escape clause."

"I never heard of it by that name," replied Mr. Stimson. "We called it the withdrawal clause."

"Well, that identifies it," said Mr. Borah.

Mr. Stimson said the clause was necessary to satisfy the British, but that he felt public opinion would prevent the limits from being exceeded.

Question by Borah.

By giving Great Britain the absolute right to exceed the limitations, without consultation with other powers, the clause placed the question on the conscience of the government that declares its security is impaired and that she must increase in any category," Mr. Stimson said.

"Suppose," said Mr. Borah, "France should build and we should decide that our security was menaced, could we build and compel Great Britain to build in the same category?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Stimon.

The question of Mr. Borah and Mr. Stimson's answer may be of far-reaching importance when the question of a reservation on the safety clause comes up for consideration.

Mr. Stimson again brought up the sugestion of an executive session at the end of the hearing, but Senator Borah adjourned the hearing until 10:30 this morning, without committing himself as to whether or not the public should be excluded.

BRIAND AND GRANDI MEET ON NAVY CUT

French Minister Is Believed Satisfied as Conference Starts at Geneva.

REPORT ON U. S. PASSED

Geneva, May 13 (A.P.).—The foreign ministers of France and Italy, Aristide Briand and Dino Grandi, today discussed points of issue in their respective naval positions which could not be reconciled at the recent London conference.

As luncheon guests of Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, who sought to bring the two nations into accord, the two ministers talked several hours but none of the three would comment on the discussions.

It is understood in informed quarters that they confined themselves merely to outlining their differences as a preliminary step to long negotiations. They did not expect to accomplish much at Geneva, since neither will be here long, but did desire to get the conversations again under way.

Satisfied With Start.

M. Briand, receiving the French press tonight, said his conversation with Signor Grandi today was the first of a series that will continue this week. The negotiations will afterward be conducted through the usual diplomatic channels. M. Briand gave the impression that he was satisfied with the beginning made.

Both M. Briand and Signor Grandi are here attending the session of the council of the League of Nations, and since that body probably will conclude its meeting Thursday, the two ministers will return to their capitals immediately.

Differences between France and Italy over parity and security prevented the London Naval Conference from attaining a five-power limitation treaty. The United States, Great Britain and Japan, reached an agreement and the parley adjourned with the understanding that France and Italy would continue negotiations.

Welfare Report Accepted.

The league council itself ground out routine business of unsensational nature, the principal thing being its acceptance of a report made by the child welfare committee. This report contained an attack on moral conditions in the United States and was prepared by Mlle. Marie Chaptal, president of the International Council of Nurses.

Mlle. Chaptal's report was made in secret some months ago, but the contents leaked out. Speaking of New York, she said that "hygiene frequently takes the place of morals, and physical health sometimes takes precedence over conscience."

Mr. Henderson, the British foreign secretary, objected to the work of the committee and indicated that it went out of its province in interesting itself without authorization in moral conditions in the United States. However, the council voted to accept the committee's report.

Turner Hop Ended By oFrced Landing

Valley Stream, N. Y., May 13 (A.P.). With bad ick pursuing him all the way from the Pacific Coast, Capt. Roscoe Turner made a forced landing in his big high-wing monoplane at Curtiss Field tonight, hot more than tthree-quarters of an hour too late to break the one-stop record set by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh last Easter Day.

His destination was Roosevelt Field, but as he soared 3,000 feet over this field he observed that his gasoline was nearly gone and decided to come down. Despite his weariness from the long hard flight, he called for more fuel and prepared to continue to Roosevelt Field, where a crowd of 3,000 was waiting to welcome him. Then he discovered that one of his plane's wheels had been broken in landing.

Turner landed at 7:40 p. m. (E. S. T.), making his ttal flying time 15 hours 10 minutes and 4 seconds.

CANNON IS ATTACKED BY METHODIST GROUP

sidetracked, several memorials were still pending proposing they be elected for four or eight years. These eventually will reach the conference floor.

Some observers saw in today's fight an attempt to settle indirectly the controversy centering around Bishop Cannon. They pointed out that delegates might be less disposed to criticize the conduct of their superintendents now that the bishops retain their full power. Bishop Cannon meanwhile won another vote of confidence from the conference when it adopted unanimously his r solution petitioning Congress for speedy action on law enforcement measures deemed necessary by President Hoover.

His name was still fiftieth on the list of bishops whose administrations will be scrutinized by the episcopacy committee. The first four bishops in order of their seniority were given clean bills of health yesterday.

The anticipated reprimand for the press for publicity given the complaints against Cannon and other bishops was handed to newspapermen today, a two-paragraph statement, the gist of which was to deplore the alleged false impression gained from reading press reports of the conference.

TOUR OF GOOD WILL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Montgomery County Groups Completing Plans for Motorcade Party.

LINE OF MARCH SETTLED

Transportation plans for the Montgomery Council Civic Federation good will tour and dinner Friday have been fairly well worked out and preparations are being made for more than 100 automobiles in the motorcade which is to tour the county, according to Maj. E. Brooke Lee, chairman of the transportation committee.

The major received a large number of offers of automobiles for use in carrying guests yesterday at his office.

The tour, which will number Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover, and District Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer among the guests, as well as prominent official, business and civic leaders of Washington and the county, is planned to foster continued cooperation between the two areas and to show the District visitors the resources and beauties of the county.

Route to be Followed.

The motorcade will assemble at Lafayette Square, leaving at 2 o'clock under police escort. The line of travel will be out Massachusetts avenue to Wisconsin avenue, thence to the District line. At that point the site of the future western portal to the city will be inspected. Turning northward, the motorcade will proceed along Western avenue through a newly built-up residential area to Chevy Chase Circle. After passing through several of the newer streets in the Chevy Chase section, Wisconsin avenue will be crossed again at Dorset avenue in Somerset. Proceeding southwestward along Dorset avenue toward River road, the new Kenwood development, including Kenwood Golf Course, will be seen.

The route from this point follows the newly widened and improved River road to Wilson lane, thence past the Bannockburn golf course to Conduit road, westward over the Cabin John Bridge past the new schoolhouse in Cabin John Park. Turning northward again just west of Cabin John, the route lies past the Congressional Country Club and over Bradley boulevard eastward to Battery Park and Edgemoor, through Edgemoor to Bethesda, where the new East and West highway begins.

With some divergence through Leland and other of the newer sections of the Bethesda area, the course is eastward along the new East and West highway to its intersection with Sixteenth street extended, just beyond the District Line and near Silver Spring. At this point a stop of approximately 45 minutes is scheduled during which appropriate exercises will be held.

Speeches to Be Heard.

The formal dedication exercises will begin at 4 p. m. and will include speeches by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Col. U. S. Grant 3d and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners. Arrangements are being made to accommodate a large attendance at this point in addition to those who take part in the tour.

At the close of these exercises the tour will be continued for an hour or more throughout the Silver Spring and Takoma Park areas, ending with a trip to the Manor Club, near Norbeck, where the good will dinner tendered by the Montgomery County Civic Federation will be served and a program of prominent speakers and entertainers heard.

Civic organizations, chambers of commerce and Montomery County officials are cooperating to make this day of celebration not only a pleasurable event, but one designed to contribute to the continued cooperation between District and county authorities in the extension of the National Capital City beyond the District line.

Lynchburg Area Crops Retarded by Drought

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., May 13.—A drought which has lasted more than five weeks is becoming alarming to farming, trucking and fruit interests. Much farm land remains to be prepared for crops, and no planting can be done. Tobacco plants are getting oversized.

The strawberry crop is being cut short, and gardens and lawns are suffering. Because of heavy snows last winter streams do not show the dry condition yet. Since April 6 there have been six showers in which the precipitation has aggregated .38 of an inch.

Keefer dropped behind the counter when the pistol was pointed at him, and the thug fired. The bullet struck a pepper shaker, the pepper filled the air and a moment later Keefer heard the two depart, sneezing.

PHARMACISTS MEET TO REVISE STANDARD

Medical Profession Scored by Hunt as Capital Sessoin Opens.

WHISKY ISSUE AT STAKE

Faced with the problem of including or excluding whisky from the new pharmacopoeia, approximately 500 pharmacists, chemists and physicians of the United States Pramacopoeial Convention met at the Willard Hotel yesterday to revise the organization's list of accredited drugs for the ensuing catalogue, which is revised only once in ten years.

The only address of the two-day convention—that of Reid Hunt, of the Harvard Medical School and president of the society—stressed the number of new drugs placed on the market in the last three years and included a number of flings at the medical profession, which he said was "woefully backward in seeing the possibilities of treatng diseases with well-known chemicals."

"It is difficult to avoid the prediction that when the historian of the future discusses the present status of medcal research in the United States," he said, "when he notes what the study of drugs has already meant to the human race, and when he thinks of the quarter of a million or more untested preparations on chemists' shelves, the present will seem one of the darkest periods in medicine."

In the course of his address President Hunt said that there is no limit to the number of drugs that the chemist and pharmacologist may synthesize in their laboratories.

Research is needed to determine the medical possibilities of the 258,000 organic compounds that chemists have already perfected, he said, adding that new compounds are being added at the rate of 20 per day.

Dr. Hunt said that America's facilities for studying the medical application of drugs was far below research activities in Germany and other European countries.

Following Mr. Hunt's address, reports were received from the financial secretary, the secretary of the board and the chairman of the committee of revision of the United States Pharmacopeia.

The afternoon session was occupied with the registration of delegates. The nomination committee met in executive session last night to select officers for the ensuing year. The committee's candidates will be announced at the closing session this afternoon.

RIO JANEIRO AWAITS THREE OCEAN FLIERS

Africa-Natal Mail Airmen Rest Before Continuing On to Reception.

BIG WELCOME PLANNED

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, May 13 (A.P.).—Three intrepid fliers who conquered distance and storms over the South Atlantic, tonight were eagerly awaited by the people of Rio Janeiro, who declared a holiday in their honor.

Jean Mermoz and his two companions, who, in 20 hours and 16 minutes, flew with the Paris mail from St. Louis, Senegal, Africa, to Natal, Brazil, landing this morning, were planning to continue on as soon as possible. Mermoz, however, was suffering from eye strain, and at last reports planned to remain at Natal for the night.

The three fliers soared out into uncharted air lanes over a stretch of sea 3,160 kilometers (1,975 miles) wide. And, unerringly, in spite of a terrific electrical rainstorm that at times sent a flood of water across the floor of their hydroairplane, they reached their goal. It was a glorious deed and this enthusiastic port never greeted visiting notables more regally.

The Aeropostal Co. announced tonight that the St. Louis-to-Natal mail time had been cut to three days and the transocean time to Buenos Aires to four days or less. Hitherto the mail had been carried across the sea by fleet ships. The authorities on both sides of the ocean today looked forward to the time when regular transatlantic flights daily, in special mail carrying aircraft, would inaugurate continuous short line service from European to South American capitals.

Tomorrow will be given to celebrations for the transatlantic fliers.

Dispatches from Natal to the aeropostal office here tonight said that Mermoz was remaining at Natal because of eye strain suffered in piloting the plane across the ocean.

The young pilot plans to take the air mail back to the African coast again, repeating his transatlantic flight in the other direction. He may leave Natal on Sunday.

Colleen Moore Awarded Divorce on Cruelty Count

Film Actress Accuses Director Husband of Ugly Moods.

Los Angeles, May 13 (A.P.)—Colleen Moore, petite actress of the films, today was granted a divorce from the motion picture director, John E. McCormick, on the grounds of cruelty. McCormick, who the actress said, had agree dto a property settlement, did not appear in court to contest the suit.

Repeated insults to their guests, habitual "ugly moods,' 'social engagements broken without apologies, and repeated orders that she "get out" of their Hollywood home, were accusations made against McCormick by the actress. Apparently under an emotional strain, Colleen's voice quivered as she testified. The final straw, she related, was McoCrmick's demand that she leave their home when she returned, escorted by a nurse, from a hospital last March. They sepaarted that day.

"I always hesitated to ask friends to our house," she testified, "because I never knew what Mr. McCormick would say to them. He was always making disparaging remarks about them in their presence. He never apologized."

She told of several parties, some given in her honor, to which McCormick refused to go at the last minute. She testified these actions caused her "great embarrassment" by forcing her to make explanations.

Julianne Johnston, another film actress, was invited to their home one evening last February, Colleen testified.

"I was most embarrassed," she said, "when my husband came out and told her, 'Why don't you get out of here. I want to go to bed.'"

During a European tour last year, the actress testified, McCormick rarely was with her, except when traveling, because he never kept his appointments with her.

The plaintiff's mother, Mrs. Adeline Morrison, corroborated Colleen's charges, testifying she more than once heard the director tell his wife to "get out of here, I never want to see you again."

Colleen gave her legal name as Kathleen Morrison McCormick. The interlocutory degree granted to her will not become final until a year from today. The couple married in August, 1923, and had no children.

PATRONS OF COUNTY SCHOOL REASSURED

Prince Georges Board Tells Delegates Building Will Not Be Closed.

DOCTORS TO MEET SOON

Members of the Prince Georges County Board of Education yesterday assured a delegation of alarmed patrons from the Tippett School that the board has no intention of closing their school. The delegation told the board that it had been informed that closing of the school and consolidation with Surrattsville School was being planned.

The delegation also asked that the sixth and seventh grades of the school, which had been closed, be reopened. The board declined this request because the school building is not large enough to accommodate the pupils.

The board authorized trustees of the various county schools to close their schools May 30 if there appeared enough community sentiment for the observance of Memorial Day. Miss Melissa Boyd, a teacher at the Brentwood School, was granted a leave of absence of one year for further study.

The board announced that a special meeting will be held May 27 at Upper Marlboro in its offices to discuss the proposal to close the Croome one-room school. The board is considering closing the school because there are not enough pupils to meet the State requirements. Patrons will be given an opportunity to voice their objections at this meeting.

A community tree was planted on the lawn of the courthouse at Upper Marlboro yesterday under the auspices of the Mellwood Club. Spadefuls of dirt were thrown around the roots of the tree by the officials.

County Commissioner Mary W. Browning; Town Commissioner T. Van Clagett, of Upper Marlboro; Mrs. Frank P. Scrivener, president of the club; Mrs. J. Enos Ray, chairman of the county department of education of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and others spoke. Benediction was said by the Rev. F. E. McManus. Ivy brought from Mount Vernon, furnished by Mrs. H. B. Mayhew, was planted.

Children of St. Mary's Parochial School and the Marlboro Public School sang and played harmonicas and Mrs. Edith G. Ridgely sang a solo, "Trees." Boy Scouts of the Marlboro Troop acted as ushers. Mrs. Cora P. Mayberry was chairman and Mrs. Daisy G. Cranford was vice chairman of the committee in charge.

Former Gov. D. W. Davis of Idaho will be the principal speaker at a rally of Republican Women of Maryland in Bluebird Hall, Mount Rainier, today, with the Prince Georges County Federation as hostess organization. Councilman Boswell has been reelected president of the council. All town officials were reappointed as follows: Waldo Burnside, attorney; W. Carroll Beatty, clerk; Albert Anderson, full-time policeman; Roland T. Read and Wayne Proctor, part-time policemen; Herbert J. Moffat, building inspector; Everett B. Maddox, electrical inspector; Daniel Cox Fahy, jr., city planner, and B. L. Snyder, road superintendent.

Councilman Harrison is serving for Councilman Edlavitch on the latter's committees because Mr. Edlavitch is seriously ill in the hospital.

A meeting of all the doctors of Prince Georges County has been called by Dr. William S. Keister, county health officer, to ascertain their position on the proposal to establish a county hospital. The meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the conference room of the Department of Agriculture.

The meeting was called by Dr. Keister, who is secretary of the Prince Georges County Medical Society, at the instance of W. R. Beattie, chairman of the county hospital committee.

Mellwood one-teacher school led the county school system and its own in attendance for the month of April, it was announced yesterday by Miss Kathleen Shears, attendance officer of Prince Georges County. The school, of which Miss Mary I. Griffith is teacher, had an attendance average of 99.5 per cent.

Leading schools in the other groups were Lanham two-teacher school, Miss M. E. Craig, principal, 97.4 per cent; Surrattsville three-teacher school, T. S. Klein, principal, 94.9 per cent; Marlboro High School, Forest P. Blunt, principal, 96.5 per cent.

Glenndale Colored School, Mary E. Wallace, principal, led the colored group with an average of 96.7 per cent.

County Agent Walter Posey has announced a meeting of farmers to hear details of the new organization which has been formed in connection with the new National Wool Marketing Corporation established by the Federal Farm Board. The meeting will be held Friday night at the Upper Marlboro Courthouse. S. B. Shaw, marketing specialist, and Kenneth Clark, animal husbandry specialist of the University of Maryland extension service, will speak.

The cooperative agency in Maryland, which will act under the supervision of the national organization, will be the Maryland Farm Bureau Wool Pool and will be a part of the regional organization known as the United Wool Growers Association, Inc. Under the terms of national concern, only cooperative organizations which agree to handle at least 500,000 pounds annually will be admitted. As Maryland produces only about 300,000 pounds annually, the regional plan was adopted to secure the advantages of the association. The national organization agrees to advance 90 per cent of the price of wool delivered at the warehouses of the cooperative organizations. This will enable better control of the wool market by preventing flooding of the market by farmers unable to hold their crops for better prices.

Virginian Burned In Garage Blaze

Morris Tapp sI Treated at Hospital Here; Building Damaged Slightly.

A blaze of inconsequential damage at 8 o'clock last night in an alley garage of the Super-Concrete Corporation, 3046 K street northwest, resulted in second-degree burns to Morris Tapp, 32 years old, a company truck operator, of allston, Va.

Mr. Tapp, alone in the garage, was filling a kerosene lamp from the rear of his truck when the liquid suddenly ignited, spurting flames on his gasoline-spotted pants legs. Burned painfully about his legs, he rushed outdoors and leaped in a small water pit. Several fellow workmen removed him to Georgetown Hospital, where his condition was reported as not serious, although he will remain there under treatment several days or longer.

Firemen quickly quenchced the blaze which was confined to a small section of the garage in the large fireproof structure. The fire boat responded to the alarm, but was not called into action. Damage was estimated at about $25.

RACE RANCOR AGAIN FLARES IN SHERMAN

33 HELD AFTER RIOTING

Sherman, Tex., May 13 (A.P.).—A threat against the Negro population of Sherman, scene of last Friday's rioting by a mob that destroyed the courthouse in taking the life of George Hughes, a Negro, charged with attacking a white woman, was made today in the form of typewritten warnings tacked on several residences in an outlying Negro settlement.

The warnings, threatening destruction by fire of Negro homes unless the occupants left Sherman within 24 hours, were discovered by National Guardsmen on duty under orders of Gov. Dan Moody.

Another warning was found at the business place of a Sherman contractor who employs a number of Negroes, advising him he must discharge his Negro workers within 36 hours.

Col. L. S. Davidson, provost marshal, advised the Negroes and the contractor to disregard the warnings. He said the military court of inquiry had some leads on the latest activities and was prepared to make a thorough investigation.

The officer reiterated his statement that the lives and property of Negroes would be protected and said the guardsmen would shoot to kill if it became necessary to insure such protection. Guards in the Negro district were augmented and orders were issued to shoot any one caught attempting incendiarism.

Texas Rangers, assisting military officers, continued their roundup of alleged rioters, making three arrests and bringing to 33 the number taken into custody. Those arrested today were held for incendiarism and inciting to riot.

Military authorities still were of the opinion martial law, declared Saturday night, could be lifted by the end of the week unless there were disturbances more serious than the posting of anonymous warnings.

DIRECTED VERDICT ASKED FOR KOHLER

Governor of Wisconsin on Stand in Own Behalf in Ouster Trial.

BOTH SIDES REST CASE

Sheboygan, Wis., May 13 (A.P.).—A directed special verdict of acquittal was asked for Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin today by defense attorneys in his ouster trial.

Ten minutes after the millionaire executive had concluded his testimony on the stand both sides rested. The motion and arguments on it followed. The jury was excused until 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Defense action came as the climax to a busy session. The governor had spent most of the day testifying.2 He outlined his life, the history of his factory and "model village" of Kohler, near here, and ended by making a detailed denial of all charges filed against him by four leaders of the rival La Follette-Progressive faction.

Prosecution Promises Appeal.

Should Judge Gehrz direct he be acquitted, the case will end summarily, to be followed by a promised appeal to the State Supreme Court. However, if the jurors receive the case it may be weeks before the final decision is known. Under the "special verdict" the judge submits a series of questions to jurors. At least ten of them must agree on each. Their answers go to the court for a final decision.

The trial is in its fourth week. Gov. Kohler has been charged with authorizing "agents" to spend more than the $4,000 allowed a gubernatorial candidate under the State corrupt practices act. Court rulings have eliminated most of the evidence against him, compiled after the 1928 primary campaign in which he won the Republican nomination.

The sixth defense witness, Gov. Kohler told how he had left high school and gone to work at the age of 15, had done manual labor in his father's plant, and had watched the changes which finally made him president of the corporation and resulted in the upbuilding of Kohler village.

Never Knew Poverty.

"I have never known poverty, but I knew hard work," he testified. "Working with men who received a small wage and lived on a small income, and living on a small income myself, I think I came to understand their problems, and I felt that I wanted to help solve the problems."

Asked about the vicissitudes of the company, he said: "It was a long, hard road. We put up a building, and the year after father died the factory burned."

Kohler village, he said, was created to give 4,000 employes some of the "finer things" in life. He detailed the development of a city planning system, model homes, recreation grounds and buildings.

"I never asked people to vote for me," he said. "I talked to them on social and economic problems. I never criticised my opponents."

FREEMAN DEPLORES CHURCH DISSENSION

Move Against Christianity Described by Bishop as Convention Opens.

LAUDS DIOCESE PLANS

That an organized movement is on foot, carefully planned, cunningly devised and world-wide in its propaganda to unsettle Christian faith and to set at naught the value of Christian institutions was asserted by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D., Bishop of Washington, in his annual pastoral address made at the opening session of the diocesan convention in the Church of the Epiphany last night.

Bishop Freeman called for a united Church, free from dissension, to engage in a new crusade to defend especially the youth of the world against the inroads of what he termed a "Society of the Godless not confined to the restricted area of Russia."

Such subversive forces are today striking at the stability and validity of the Christian faith, according to the bishop. He also affirmed that antireligious movements in far off foreign lands have an effect on local thoughts, beliefs and practices.

Need for New Chapel.

Whether the seat of authority of the antireligious movement is in Moscow, New York or Chicago makes little difference, the speaker declared. The bishop asserted that the Church must turn away from topical preaching to affirm the fundamental truths of religion if it wishes to retain its hold on the people. "The Church can not be holy on Sunday and worldly on Monday" he stated.

Today's business sessions of the diocesan convention will be held in St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek Parish, and clerical and lay representatives of every parish in the diocese will be present. Bishop Freeman will preside over all the sessions of the convention.

Attention was called to the need for a new chapel or church at a point near Howard University. Among the new buildings under construction are the stone church at College Park to serve the University of Maryland, parish houses at Silver Spring, Md., and at Mount Rainier and funds are at hand to build stone churches at those two points also.

Asks Finance Board.

Bishop Freeman asked for the establishment by the convention of a board of trustees to handle all diocesan funds and properties. He reported that through the cooperation of the woman's auxiliary the entire amount laid upon the diocese for general missions had been paid.

The bishop commented upon the remarkable development of the Children's Home and the plans for a new building for the Home for the Aged on Wisconsin avenue, which will double the capacity of its present quarters. He asked that the convention approve the appointment of a committee to assist these institutions and to raise a special fund, the interest of which would be used to aid church building when special opportunities developed.

Speaking of the progress of Washington Cathedral, Bishop Freeman said that through the new College of Preachers there the Diocese of Washington was now in a position to contribute to the spiritual enrichment of the whole church. He also expressed the hope that both the north and south transcepts of Washington Cathedral would be completed for use during the George Washington bicentennial observance in 1932. A fund of approximately $1,000,000 is needed for this purpose.

SHOLAPUR SEETHES UNDER MARTIAL LAW

through town after town airplanes operated simultaneously in attacks upon outlaw bands.

At Allahabad the congress committee of workers engaged in an all-day session urging and rejecting plans for stronger resistance. The passive followers of Mahatma Gandhi seemed to have asserted the stronger influence, as comparatively mild measures were voted.

Mahabaleshwar, summer capital of the Bombay presidency, tonight was the scene of a gathering of all high officials of the presidency, summoned posthaste by Sir Frederick Sykes, the governor. This conference immediately followed seizure of Sholapur by the insurgent natives and restoration of control under military law.

Eighty arrests in Calcutta alone served to sober the civil disobedience forces in that district. The trial of Abbas Tyabji was concluded without serious disorder, which, in itself, was a surprise to the officials.

All Hindu shops and markets at Karachi today were closed. The Moslems refused to participate in the hartal, but there were no reports of disorders from that cause.

Tomorrow the all-parties conference will open at Bombay. Prominent liberals and members of the legislative assembly will attend. The progressive leaders are expected to press for immediate declaration of the government's intention regarding a dominion, it being their contention that such a declaration is all that will save the round table conference in the autumn.

Mrs. Naidu and Gandhi's son, Manilal, tonight continued their plans for salt raids in spite of the fact that it probably would result in the woman leader's seizure.

Surat tonight reported that all disobedience volunteers of Chorasi Taluka were summoned by the president of the Taluka congress in Taluka and ordered to arrange for the raid. Seventy-five volunteers presented themselves and were ordered to a camp near the station, in readiness to start when ordered. Mrs. Naidu is expected tomorrow.

Sholapur, India, May 13 (A.P.).—The British officer commanding this riotous mill city, where troops today took control of the administration, issued a notice this evening declaring that under martial law a curfew order would be enforced between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m., beginning tonight.

The carrying of "Lathis" or bamboo sticks, and of lethal weapons was prohibited, as well as display of the congress flags. Assembly of more than four persons was prohibited.

The local congress office was searched by soldiers today and many papers were seized.

The British commanding officer explained the regulations under martial law to members of the local municipal council, stating that those obeying them had no reason to fear molestation and should go about their business in peace.

Moslems Not Exempt.

A moslem member of the council asked if the curfew order could not be relaxed in favor of the Moslems, who had to say prayers once at 7 p. m. and again at 9 p. m. He asserted that the Moslem population had kept aloof from the disturbances and been peaceful and loyal throughout.

The British commander expressed his pleasure at learning of the good record of the Moslems, but said the order must be enforced without regard to racial or religious differences.

Press dispatches describing conditions at Sholapur, held up for 24 hours, were released today, and the circumstances leading to the proclamation of martial law thus became known.

Martial Law Asked.

The small military pickets that replaced the police, who refused to venture unarmed into the mob-ridden city after Thursday's rioting, were withdrawn on Monday afternoon.

The military authorities concluded that performing the routine jobs of policemen was not part of their work and urged the civilian authority to resume control, seeking military aid when necessary, or to hand over complete control to the troops.

After conferences, the civilian authorities confessed they were unable to regain their jurisdiction and asked for proclamation of martial law.

Episcopalian Diocese Installs New Bishop

Chicago, May 13 (A.P.).—The Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Chicago enthroned the Right Rev. Sheldon Munson Griswold as bishop today and elected the Rev. George Craig Stewart, of Evanston, as bishop coadjutor.

The two events took place at a special diocesan convention at St. James Cathedral, with Dean Duncan H. Brown, rector of St. James, inducting the new bishop and the diocesan clergy from northern Illinois electing the new bishop coadjutor. Dr. Stewart as bishop coadjutor is in line for eventual succession to the bishopric when the office next becomes vacant.

COMMUNITY DRAMA GUILD HAS BY-LAWS

Committee, Headed by Judge O'Toole, Ends Work of Preparation.

ELECTION IS POSTPONED

The annual meeting of the Community Drama Guild last night, held at the Franklin School, at Thirteenth and K streets northwest, saw adoption of a set of by-laws which have been in the making since the guild was first established and oincorporated two years ago.

The committee, consisting of Judge Mary O'Toole, as chairman; Capt. Ray Montgomery, of the park police, and Miss Sybil Baker, of the Community Center, have been working on them during the entire time the guild has been in existence and their wark was highly praised by the entire membership at last night's meeting.

The object of the association, as set out in the by-laws, is to assist members of the community who are seeking cultural development through the drama and to promote the use of Government-own facilities, buildings and grounds for educational and recreational development of drama.

The affairs and business of the guild is managed by a board of governors consisting of eleven members, three of whom are elected for life. The life members of the organization are Judge O'Toole, former District Commssioner Cuno Rudolph and W. S. Corby, retired Capital business executive. The others are elected every two years. The guild has 400 members.

Because of the length of last night's meeting, the electin oof officers which was scheduled to take place was postponed until a later date, and the presiding officer announced that an adjourned meeting would be held within the next few days for that purpose.

First Heat Victim Felled on Street

Clarendon Man Admitted to Casualty Hospital for Treatment.

Summer's here.

Though unheralded by the calendar, it came with a bang about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, making its un-Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, official foray along E street between

It took its first toll with a heat prostration case in sending Harry J Buscher, 48 years old, of Clarendon, Va., to Casualty Hospital. The man sudden y fell to the sidewalk and was removed by the Sixth Precinct petrol. Although his condition was reported as not serious, he was admitted overnight.

Showers are forecast today by the Weather Bureau to break one of the longest doughts on record here, starting on April 18, when the last measurage rainfall was noted on the Government instruments. The Weather Bureau announced that this 24-day showerless period was exceeded here during the last 50 years only by a rainless stretch from September 12 to October 7, 1922.

English Aviatrix Unhurt In Plane Spill in Burma

Rangoon, Burma, India, May 13 (A.P.).—Amy Johnson, the intrepid English girl flier, attempting a solo flight to Australia, came to grief today when she suffered an accident 2 miles from here. Miss Johnson, although her plane was somewhat damaged, escaped injury herself.

Mistaking the playing field of insein, for the Rangoon race course, the girl flier attempted a landing. Although she came down perfectly, her plane taxied into a ditch. Miss Johnson said that if possible she would resume her flight.

the car, turned the handle, and, hurray! the gash darn thing started to run!

Joe was at the height of his glory. The machine ambled on, like electric autos will, not at the terrific pace he expected, but faster than Joe ever traveled. Joe was happy. Then suddenly the machine turned against the curb. Joe was pitched out, suffering a severe laceration of the tongue. He was treated at Casualty Hospital and later returned home.

The auto Joe drove was owned by the Rice Baking Co.

Joe, with his swollen tongue, was unable to say whether in the future he would prefer being a policeman and firemen rather than a daring racing motorist.

RADIO CORPORATION SUIT FILED BY U. S.

tion. This report has been delayed on several occasions. The suit is the department's answer to the Senate critics of the Radio Corporation and affiliated units.

Reorganization Plan Hit.

The action, much discussed and awaited, attacks the proposed reorganization recently submitted to stockholders of the Radio Corporation as one in which the control, alleged to have been effected by the chief defendants over the patents in question, will be perpetuated. It climaxes several years of investigation by the Department of Justice.

Radio Corporation representations to the department have been based on the contentions that they were doing nothing not authorized by the patent laws; they have advised John Lord O'Brien, assistant to the Attorney General, in charge of Sherman law prosecutions, therefore, they expect to have their action vindicated.

There is a long litigation of the matter in prospect. It has been several years since the Government has had forces of the strength of these defendants to meet, and the consensus here was that only the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States will conclude the court proceedings that have now been set in motion, for the case is one which permits use of every type of legal maneuver. In the view of some authorities here the case may result in a completely new construction of patent laws by the courts together with the monopoly that was intended to be extended by the country's founders when they wrote the Constitution itself.

Merger Questions Secondary.

These factors make it obvious that the merger questions will be secondary throughout the fight because monopolistic rights always accorded patent holders hitherto now are definitely at stake.

New York, May 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—On receipt of information that suit had been brought by the Government against the Radio Corporation of America, Owen D. Young, chairman of the executive committee of the firm, said today:

"The Radio Corporation of America welcomes the suit of the Government of the United States to test the validity of its organization which has now existed for more than ten years and in every step of which the Government has been advised.

"Certainly, if there be anything illegal in the set-up of the Radio Corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders are more deeply interested in that question than either the Government or any other group can possibly be. It is very glad, therefore, that a test case has been brought. It prefers very much to have such a question out of politics."

Roberts Approved By Labor Chieftain

Green Calls Nominee for Supreme Court Post Well Fitted.

(Associated Press.)

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement yesterday that his organization would not interpose objection to confirmation of Owen J. Roberts as a member of the Supreme Court.

"Such information as we have been able to secure leads us to the conclusion that Mr. Roberts is eminently fitted to serve as a member of the Supreme Court," he said. "His experience and training have been in a field where he has had wide opportunity to understand the problems which grow out of human relations in industry and social problems which so vitally affect human relationships.

"Labor insists that men appointed to such a high and exalted position as the Supreme Court of the United States shall be able, qualified, fair and just. We ask that in decisions affecting the lives, well being and liberties of the people, righteousness and justice shall characterize all decisions."

been disposed of. The old "slush fund" committee, he pointed out, had failed to follow up this case and it was for the purpose of getting out of this tangle that he had introduced his resolution. He added that under the indictment Cunningham could be punished by a jail sentence as was Harry F. Sinclair, and Senator Walsh (Democrat,) of Montana, agreed with Norris, holding that the Philadelphian could still be compelled to break his silence.

Referring to Cunningham's reluctance before the Reed committee to go into details regarding $50,000 he said he contributed to the Vare fund, Senator Norris said:

"There is testimony to show that Cunningham never had $50,000 in his life unless it was on a similar election occasion. He was a go-between. The answer to the questions would bring to light, if given truthfully, the methods of those who undertake to control elections of officials."

DETECTIVE BURKE REDUCED TO RANKS

a disorderly house on K street northwest. Burke was charged with having told Assistant District Attorney Murray that the girl was out of town, and that if the case were called he would have to make good her bond. On this charge he was exonerated when it was testified that the Foster girl was in Pennsylvania.

The shooting of Crotts early in March by Detective S. F. Gravely, of the Third Precinct, who was watching a house on First stret, near Rhode Island avenue northwest, in company with Burke, disclosed the return of the Foster girl to Washington.

The shooting was precipitated when Burke and Gravely went to the First street address looking for hold-up men who but a few nights before had staged a robbery there. Crotts and Ardie C. Swortzel, then a policeman attached to the Fourth Precinct, ran from the house as the two detectives approached, and Gravely shot Crotts.

Swortzel was suspended from duty when the Foster girl testified that he had atempted to "shake her down" for a small amount of money. He is now awaiting trial on the charge. Gravely was arrested for the shooting, but was cleared in court and was restored to duty.

French Court Told Of Customs Spies

Parisian Shop's Aid Says U. S. Agents Uncovered Plot of Mrs. Dodge.

Paris, May 13 (A.P.).—Testimony to prove that commercial espionage enabled American customs officers to uncover smuggling for which Mrs. Robert L. Dodge, of New York, paid $213,000 was given before an examining magistrate by the general manager of the Maison Poiret today.

M. Recope, chief of the fashion establishment, testified how he became "aware of the surveillence of Mrs. Dodge by an American Treasury Department representative in Paris." He explained the circumstances under which a letter, exchanged between Mrs. Dodge and the head saleswoman of the Maison Poiret was communicated to an American attache, adding that the latter also somehow became cognizant of the texts of telegrams which Mrs. Dodge was receiving at her hotel.

Magistrate Bracke directed Police Commissioner Ameline to check Recope's testimony.

Savant Cites Evils Of Pay Later Plan

Installments Blight Fourth of Population, Says Phelps at Credit Session.

Dallas, Tex., May 13 (A.P.).—Twenty-five per cent of the American population have incurred monthly obligations larger than their incomes, one of the economic consequences of installment selling, Dr Clyde William Phelps head of the department of economics University of Chattanooga, estimated in an address today before the annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men.

While installment selling has undoubtedly had a stimulating effect on business, it has also, in many cases, had a disastrous effect on consumers, Dr. Phelps declared. "These ill effects should be guarded against by closer credit cooperation to prevent overbuying on the part of the people who are unable to budget their incomes and plan ahead," he said.

The association adopted "Quit Singing the Blues" as its theme song.

NORWAY MOURNING PASSING OF NANSEN

Explorer and Humanitarian Dies at 68; Planned Zeppelin Flight.

ACHIEVED WORLD FAME

Oslo, Norway, May 13 (A.P.).—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous as an explorer and worker for the betterment of humanity, died unexpectedly today of paralysis of the heart at the age of 68, and tonight all Norway was in mourning.

All the newspapers carried black borders as a sign of mourning and printed long obituaries, tracing the steps whereby Dr. Nansen became world-famous for his explorations, then won renown as a statesman of international stature, and then returned to thoughts of polar exploration.

The end came very suddenly. Dr. Nansen had been suffering from phlebitis (inflammation of the inner membranes of the veins) and had been confined to bed, but was believed to be making excellent recovery. He was up yesterday and was visited by a brother, who said his condition appeared normal.

Set Sail in 1893.

Thus was Dr. Nansen defeated in his ambition to make one last trip of exploration—a trip over the North Pole in the dirigible Graf Zeppelin. He had been figuring on this voyage for several years, but a number of things always interfered—difficulties in obtaining insurance coverage, lack of financial backing, and so on.

The explorer's first notable trip to the Arctic was the "Fram" expedition, made in 1893. He made several others, and one reason for his planning the trip next year was that he wished to search for his intimate friend, Dr. Roald Amundsen, who was lost in 1928 while searching for the Italian dirigible Italia in the polar regions.

His humanitarian work centered largely on relief activities following the World War. He was much interested in efforts to establish an Armenian national homeland, and also worked with the League of Nations groups.

Mr. Nansen, who always enjoyed the best of health, was until the present winter able to join in all kinds of outdoor sports. He had an attack of pneumonia a few months ago but had virtually recovered from its effects.

He leaves a widow and five children by his first marriage. One son recently returned to Norway from the United States, where he worked as an architect.

The explorer's death cast gloom everywhere. Flags were at half-staff throughout the city.

Capital Worker Recalls.

(Associated Press.)

A blubber-stained message that Fridtjof Nansen left behind when he and one companion abandoned a hut in which they had spent an Arctic night in Franz Josef Land was exhibited yesterday by Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, Arctic explorer and close friend of Nansen.

Baldwin, in the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition of 1902, found the note in a "winter lair" that Nansen and Lieut. F. Hjalmar Johansen occupied in 1896. In the note Nansen told of the drift of his ship, the Fram, toward the North Pole in the pack ice.

Nansen and Lieut. Johansen had left the Fram in an effort to reach the pole with dog teams. They were forced to stop at 86 degrees 14 minutes, then the farthest north any expedition had penetrated, and started back toward Spitzbergen, building the hut from driftwood and skins when the long Arctic night began.

"Nansen really was the father of scientific polar expeditions," Baldwin said. In the Nansen expedition, when the Fram drifted in polar ice for three years, Baldwin recalled, the late Roald Amundsen, of the outstanding explorers, was an engineer on the ship. Baldwin now is engaged in special research work in the World War historical section of the Navy.

Progressive Citizens Present Resolution to Special Committee.

LEADERSHIP GETS PRAISE

Resolutions recommending that one of the new schools to be built in Washington be named after the late Hugh T. Taggart were adopted yesterday by the Progressive Citizens Association of Georgetown. The resolution was presented to the special committee on naming of schools of the Board of Education.

"Mr. Taggart," the resolution points out, "was one of the foremost civic leaders of the District of Columbia. He was connected with the office of the United States district attorney for nearly 30 years, and as assistant to the Attorney General conducted the Potomac Flats case out of which grew Potomac Park. He was engaged in some of the most important trials of the Government. He was professor of law in the Georgetown University Law School, was president of the Bar Association of the District and several other organizations. He was at all times interested in the welfare of the public schools."

Names for six new schools are wanted by school officials. The school naming committee will meet on May 21 to consider the suggestions submitted up to that time.

Five Marooned Men Are Taken Off Island

Baltimore, Md., May 13 (A.P.).—The story of being marooned on a Chesapeake Bay island and going without food for 36 hours was related today by five soldiers from Fort Hoyle who were rescued by John M. Purcell, a retired sea captain, and his son, Harry, in a fishing launch.

The soldiers started out at noon Saturday in a 24-foot launch and were several miles down the bay when the engine stopped. They anchored, waiting for help, but their line parted and they drifted on to Millers Island.

Waving clothing, they hailed a passing launch, but though the occupant promised to return, he did not. Two nights the group passed on the island. One of the soldiers was clad only in a bathing suit. Just as the Purcells appeared in a launch a squadron of twelve Army planes swooped down toward the island and dropped notes for the men, a search having been started from the fort.

Census on Capital Expected in Week

Moran Declares Finding of Missing Portfolios Will Speed Enumeration.

Preliminary announcement of the new population of Washington is expected to be made before the end of this week, it was revealed yesterday by J. Sterling Moran, supervisor of the District census.

Supervisor Moran explained that the statement to the effect that the census would not be made known for a long period was due to the fact that a number of portfolios were missing and an effort was being made to locate them. These missing portfolios were found yesterday, and it is now merely a question of completing a count before the new population of the District will be known.

Every one in the District who has not been enumerated will be given two days to notify the Census Bureau. Any one who can be proved to have deliberately avoided the census after this time will be subject to prosecution, it was announced. Supervisor Moran said that after the preliminary announcement is divulged that a careful recheck will be made to determine that the new population is perfectly accurate.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

That end of the block, parking space which most motorists prefer because it assures easy ingress and egress is often a snare and a delusion under the local traffic regulations. They specify that the vehicle must be 20 feet from the intersecting street curb line.

The object of the regulation, of course, is to improve general visibility at street intersections.

Example: A driver parks on M street, on the northeast corner, where it intersects with Fifteenth street. His front wheels are two feet from the cross-walk line. It looks safe but it is not legal for he is closer than 20 feet to the curb line on Fifteenth street.

Poison Packages Held Attempt to Kill Family

Worcester, Mass., May 13 (A.P.).—What appeared to be an attempt to poison the family of Joseph Fish was revealed today when police started an investigation of the mailing of poisoned foodstuffs to his address.

On two occasions packages containing a chocolate compound and a lemon pie filling were mailed to Mrs. Jeannette Fish. Chemical analysis revealed a violent poison, police said. Both were mailed at a West Side postoffice, while a third, apparently intended for the mails, was found discarded in the gutter near the postal station. No return address was given. Mr. Fish is manager of a Trumbull street store. He could ascribe no motive for the act.

SENATE APPROVES BILL FOR BIG PARK PROJECT ON RIVER

House Now to Be Asked to Sanction Amendments to Measure.

LOAN OF $16,000,000 TO DISTRICT PROVIDED

Memorial Parkway on Each Side of Potomac Chief Work Authorized.

The Capper-Cramton bill, providing for a great park program for Washington and its environs, was passed by the Senate yesterday afternoon. It now goes back to the House, which will be asked to approve the amendments added by the Senate.

The bill, which was introduced in the last Congress by Representative Louis Cramton (Republican), of Michigan, authorizes $33,500,000 in appropriations and loans for the acquisition and development of parks in the National Capital and in nearby Maryland and Virginia.

The principal project authorized is a George Washington Memorial Parkway. This would run along each bank of the Potomac, extending from Mount Vernon to Great Falls on the Virginia side and from Fort Washington to Great Falls on the Maryland side.

$16,000,000 Loan Provided.

The bill provides for a Federal loan of $16,000,000 to the District of Columbia, to be paid back without interest at the rate of $1,000,000 a year. The money will be used to acquire land needed for a comprehensive park program here.

Part of the sum will be spent on the proposed fort drive, a beautiful tree-lined boulevard connecting the old Civil War forts that encircle Washington.

The George Washington Memorial Parkway will be developed out of a fund of $7,500,000. Under the terms of the bill, Virginia and Maryland will have to meet one-half of the cost.

A part of this 7,500,000 will be used for the extension of the Anacostia and Rock Creek parks into Maryland, providing that the free State agrees to pay two-thirds of the cost.

Free Bridge Authorized.

For a free bridge at Great Falls, the bill authorizes a Federal appropriation of $1,500,000. It is provided in the bill, however, that the Great Falls Bridge Co. may go ahead with the construction of a toll bridge there, with the understanding that the Government may purchase the span at any time.

The principal opposition to the bill in the hearings came from the interests that want to develop the hydroelectric power at Great Falls.

Elisha Hanson, attorney for the Potomac River Power Co., sought to have the Senate District committee write a provision into the bill, which would have permitted his firm to harnass the waters providing it were granted a permit by the Federal Power Commission. The committee, however, turned him down.

As the bill now stands, the water power at Great Falls may not be developed without the specific consent of Congress.

FESTIVAL ENJOYED AT TRINITY COLLEGE

Annual May Day Event Has Peter Pan Arrangement as Main Feature.

ATHLETIC GAMES HELD

There were little lost boys, bears, lions, rabbits, pirates, flamingoes, and redskins running around the flower-sprinkled campus of Trinity College yesterday afternoon, when the annual May Day festival was staged by the students.

An arrangement of "Peter Pan," the beloved Barrie play, was presented on the campus, with hundreds of people looking on. The play was planned and executed by the students even to the musical score, and went off without a flaw.

Betty Brown, as Peter Pan, scored with her whole-hearted portrayal of the famous character. More than 75 students took part, all in costumes made in the classrooms.

Earlier in the day there was interclass competition in basket ball, track events, archery, horsemanship, and baseball. The freshmen were declared winners. They triumphed in basket ball, track events, and archery, with Miss Claire Killeen, one of the freshmen, winner of two of the three horse show events.

The day began for the students with mass in Notre Dame Chapel, which is on the campus, at 7:30 o'clock. Following this came the athletic events, occupying the morning until luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. In the afternoon archery and horse show contests were held, with the pageant at 4:30.

Last night there was a student procession on the campus, benediction in the chapel, and singing in the main building court.

Those in charge of the arrangements were: Mercedes Liddell, Alba Zizzamia, Eileen Hogan, Janet Sheehan, Helen Strype, Mary Mahoney, Juliana Swiney, Mary E. O'Malley, Edith Callahan, Mary McLean and Ruth Dooley.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

By SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER, Chairman Senate Committee on District of Columbia.

During the next few years the beauty of Washington will be still further increased by the expenditure of millions of dollars on new Government buildings and new parks. This program can well be viewed with pride by present residents and should serve to attract many people to make their homes here.

The money spent on these big improvements will, however, fall short of returning its full value if the beauty of the city is allowed to be marred by any minor untidiness. The high standards that have always existed in this city will have to grow with other improvements. Each individual Washingtonian can help in this by seeing that the property which he owns is above reproach and that he does his share to keep the streets, parks and alleys free from unnecessary rubbish.

The Commissioners' proclamation of a clean-up might well stimulate every one to dedicate himself individually for the entire year to this task of civic cleanliness

SUICIDE PRINTS FAIL AS MURDER CLEWS

Data on Man Dead in Atlanta Differ From Evidence on Baker Car.

JANNEY IS STILL HELD

Palm and finger prints of an Atlanta, Ga., suicide failed to correspond with impressions taken from the car in which Mary Baker was murdered when police yesterday sought to link the suicide with the killing of the Navy Department clerk.

So far as police could learn the Atlanta suicide has been partially identified as a certain "McDonald, of New York." Department of Justice agents in the Southern city are striving to make a positive identification of the man.

Pictures of the suicide will be shown to witnesses of the attack on Miss Baker in the Ellipse. There is no certainty that the prints taken from the murder car are those of the slayer. Several hours had elapsed between the finding of the automobile and the search for the prints. In the meantime many persons had touched the auto.

Robert J. Janney, 30 years old, is still being held for questioning. New York police have not checked his alibi that he was in that city on April 11. If Janney is exonerated of any complicity in the Baker case, he will face a charge of speeding, driving without a permit, and annoying women.

First Lady Faces Further Inactivity

Dr. Boone Says Injury to Mrs. Hoover's Back Will Heal Slowly.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will not be able to resume her normal White House activities for several weeks, Capt. Joel T. Boone, her physician, said yesterday. Her injuries, due to a fall some time ago, were more serious than at first believed.

There is nothing alarming in the First Lady's condition, Dr. Boone said, but it requires time to heal the ligaments in a wrenched back. For a month she has been disabled and for two weeks she has been using a wheel chair. It is expected she will soon be able to take brief automobile rides.

Mrs. Hoover will not accompany the President to the drill grounds in Chesapeake Bay next Tuesday to review the North Atlantic fleet. It will be some weeks before she can go to the President's summer camp in Virginia. Mrs. Hoover walks some and attends all meals, Dr. Boone said.

House Petitioned For School Road

Alice Deal Junior High Will Be Completed in Year, Group Hears.

Lack of any approach to the site of the new Alice Deal Junior High School in the Reno section led the Home and School Associatoin of the Ben W. Murch School to petition Congress yesterday for a provision in the present school appropriations bill for a street or road to the new school.

Municipal Architect A. L. Harris informed the association that construction of the new school will be started in September and that it will be completed in about a year's time. The site of the new school is three blocks from Connecticut avenue and two blocks from the termination of Davenport street

A number of pupils at the Murch School will be transferred to the Deal School when it is completed. The resolutions were sent to school officials, the District Commissioners and Col. U. S. Grant, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, as well as to Congress. Mrs. Leslie Wright is president of the association.

Heap, who died April 5, according to the petition for the probate of her will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by her son, George Beale Bloomer, and her daughter, Violet B. Ward. The estate consists of real estate valued at $112,225 and personal property estimated at $99,694.64.

By the terms of the will the daughter receives one-half of the estate, while the remainder is to be held in trust for Pansy Beale Bloomer, daughter of the son.

Man Held for Sale Of Gifts to Charity

Salvation Army Employe Draws 90-Day Sentence in Larceny Case.

Charles E. Delmar, a truck driver employed by the Salvation Army, drew a 90-day jail term in Police Court yesterday when he faced Judge Gus A. Schuld: on four counts of petit larceny growing out of his alleged activities in selling articles donated for charity.

Brig. Gen. John McGee, chief o' the local Salvation Army post, and Capt. Albert B. Silva testified that they had not suspected the driver of stealing gift clothing until after the police had notified them of his arrest. Detectives C. P. Cox and T. J. Sullivan, both of headquarters, told the court that Delmar would drive the truck to various addresses where he had information that clothing awaited and would collect it, sort it and sell the best, turning into the Army only that which he could not disopse of.

The detectives also stated that after the arrest of the man they searched his locker and discovered a black mask and gun. They are investigating to determine whether he had been implicated in any hold-ups in Washington during the past six months, or in Cleveland, Ohio, where he lived prior to coming here.

Sinclair, a storekeeper, on Howard road southeast, last September 11, three colored boys—William Charles Butler, 17 years old; Lloyd Nevitt, 16 years old, and Eddie Stewart, 15 years old—went on trial before a District Supreme Court jury and Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday with their lives at stake.

All three of the boys are jointly charged in an indictment with slaying Sinclair during an attempted holdup. Assistant United States Attorneys Irving Goldstein and James F. Hughes are prosecuting the case, while the defendants are represented by Attorneys E. Russel Kelly, Octave Bigoness, Goldie Paregol and Hyman Waldman.

Their first day was devoted to an examination of equipment and class work. On May 22, the Georgetown unit will stage its field day exercises on the university campus. The Washington Chamber of Commerce has offered several silver cups to be awarded to honor cadets of the unit.

Search Abandoned For Bodies of Four

Police Find No Evidence to Support Story of Canal Tragedy.

Harbor police late yesterday ceased dragging the Chesapeake & Ohio canal at Thirty-sixth street northwest in a search for the bodies of a man, woman and two small children, who were reported by two girls to have drowned Monday when a boat overturned.

Policemen worked the entire day dragging the canal, but found no evidence to substantiate the stories told by Helen McDaniels, 8 years old, of 3733 N street northwest and Margaret Crampton, of 3713 Canal road.

The girls, who differed in their accounts of the supposed accident, said they witnessed the incident from the banks of the canal.

Policeman's Collateral Is Declared Forfeited

When Sergt. Odessa Hunt, former chief instructor at the police school, failed to show up in Police Court to stand trial on a charge of intoxication, Judge John P. McMahon ordered his $10 collateral forfeited and issued an attachment instructing police to bring the man into court today.

Hunt, who is said to be critically ill at Walter Reed Hospital, was represented by his attorney, E. Russell Kelly, who failed to produce any physician's certificate showing that the man was ill. Hunt was scheduled for trial last Saturday, but the case was continued when it was stated that he was ill. The suspended police instructor was arrested on the night of May 3 at an apartment house at Eighteenth and I streets northwest following complaints made by tenants to the Third Precinct.

Mask and Bauble To Present Play

Georgetown Dramatic Club Chooses "Richelieu" for Performance.

Georgetown University's Mask and Bauble Club will make its initial public appearance tonight and tomorrow night at the Wardman Park Theater in "Richelieu." The performances will begin at 8 o'clock.

The club is headed by Frank Wenzler, a senior, who will take the role of Cardinal Richelieu. Wenzler is a veteran amateur and has been playing with the organization for several years. He was the star in last year's production of "Manhood."

"Richelieu" demands a strong cast and scenery which taxed the ingenuity of the stage manager, William McLarney. The Mask and Bauble Club was organized nine years ago for Shakespearean productions, but after a few years it strayed into other fields of dramatic art.

NO SECRECY.

After a kindergarten lecture to senators on the rudiments of naval limitation by international agreement, Secretary Stimson came nearer to the point yesterday in response to questions relating to the London treaty by members of the Senate committee on foreign relations. It was at once noted, however, that he preferred to discuss in secret all the really vital questions involved in the treaty.

During the negotiation of a treaty it is usually wise to keep the doors closed, because whenever a tentative proposal is put forth in public it is often exaggerated into an "ultimatum," a "surrender," or a "demand." But when a contract has once been signed, the public interest and safety require that the Senate and people should know exactly what the bargain calls for.

Other governments can make secret treaties, or agree to secret clauses in treaties, or conceal the purport of treaties from their peoples. The United States Government can not make a secret treaty. The Government, acting for the people, has no right to reach any understanding with foreign governments that is kept from the knowledge of the people.

A treaty affecting the national defense is of the first importance. The public will never consent to the imposition of such a treaty upon the country unless its terms are thoroughly known and found to be fair.

Inasmuch as it is impossible to discuss the treaty in open session in the Senate and yet conceal its meaning and object, nothing is to be gained by making the attempt in committee. This is public business. The time of tentative proposals and alternatives is past. The country has before it a specific contract. Now it wishes to know what is in the contract. This matter can be discussed in public without offense to any nation. Senators with a sense of responsibility will refrain from casting slurs upon other governments, and will conduct themselves as judges rather than attorneys for or against the treaty.

Now that the Senate has adopted the rule of open discussion of treaties and nominations, a sudden reversal of the rule in dealing with this all-important treaty will inevitably give rise to opposition, on the ground that there is something in the compact that must be concealed from the public—that it would be rejected if the whole truth were known. The text will not only be suspected of a double meaning, but there will be suspicion of "gentlemen's agreements" reached in London, vitally affecting the treaty, and too secret to be reduced to writing. Already these suspicions are spreading. It is suggested that perhaps a private agreement has been reached, providing that the United States, while having the right to build up to a certain level, will not do so during the life of the treaty. Of course, no such secret agreement by the negotiators could have any validity so far as the United States is concerned; and the surest way to remove such suspicions and prevent the lodging of complaints of bad faith hereafter is to lay bare all the ins and outs of the treaty.

When the treaty has been ratified it will be the supreme law of the United States. Congress will be bound to give effect to its provisions. The Navy will be built up to the level provided by the treaty, pacifist opposition notwithstanding. The principle of naval limitation by international agreement becomes an absurdity and a national danger unless the limit allowed is reached and maintained. The treaty itself contemplates the increase of naval strength to a certain level. No treaty would be necessary if the United States were determined to do away with its naval strength.

The public has given its approval to the principle of limiting the Navy by international agreement, for the sake of promoting peace by removing suspicion and fear. This approval is conditioned upon the maintenance of the national defense. Now that a treaty embodying this principle is before the Senate, it must be examined in detail, and all its bearings made public, in order that the people may give ungrudging support to the efforts of the nations to limit their armaments.

TARIFF AND FOREIGN TRADE.

Last-minute efforts are being made by all the disgruntled free-traders of the country to deal a death blow to the tariff bill. All other arguments having failed, they are concentrating attention upon that major fallacy that American export trade is being sacrificed on the altar of excessive duties. With the typical enthusiasm of fanatics they are catching at every unfavorable indication on the economic horizon and attributing it to the tariff bill. Fortunately Congress remains impervious to their prattle.

The most recent report to be bandied gleefully about by this group is that of the Department of Commerce, showing a decline in exports for the first quarter of 1930. In spite of the fact that the new rates have not yet gone into effect, and many of them have only been definitely fixed in recent weeks, the free-trade clique glibly attributes this to retaliation by other nations. The simple fact is that the country was in a period of depression during those months. Trade within the country has fallen off, too. Is that to be attributed to excessive duties? The business recession brought about a sharp shrinkage in commodity prices, which makes the decline in exports appear much more significant than it really is. The free-trade group is simply reading malice and retaliation into a decline of purchasing power.

The whole world has been affected by this recession. International trade reacted to the slump in much the same way as did domestic business. Exports of other countries declined, some of them suffering far more than the United States. Those conditions will correct themselves as soon as business throughout the world has regained its normal stride. The recovery of the United States would be hastened by enactment of a tariff that will insure protection for American labor, industry and agriculture against the competition of countries on a far lower scale of living.

The second development over which the tariff wreckers are rejoicing is the so-called retaliation tariff initiated in Canada. This situation is most amusing, because the very interests which a few months ago were calling for a revision of agricultural duties only are now crying out against the alleged retaliation of Canada against those duties. Canada is an agricultural country. Most of its manufactured goods are imported from the United States. It is the tariff on dairy products, meats, eggs, poultry, fish, wheat, &c., against which Canadian producers lodge their chief complaint. And these are the very products on which the coalition in the Senate heaped the highest duties. The same forces which helped to boost the agricultural rates are now crying out for fear their handiwork will destroy American foreign trade.

As a matter of fact, however, the Canadian revision has little relation to the tariff bill in Congress. Canada is revising its duties for the same reason that the United States did—for the same reason that every other country in the world is raising its tariff—namely, to afford greater protection to its domestic industries and labor. Since the American tariff was last adjusted European tariffs have been boosted several times. A conference designed to bring about a tariff truce in Europe caused each nation to raise its duties before participating. The whole world has been converted to the theory of protection, and every country is adjusting its schedules accordingly.

Did the United States institute the present tariff revision in retaliation for the new European tariffs? That conclusion would be no more absurd than to suppose that every change that is now contemplated is a reprisal against this country. Would the free-trade clique open American ports to all the world, and allow all industry to thrive but our own? Their arguments betray an unnatural desire to sink the American standard of living to that of Europe and Asia.

THE RIGHT OF CONTRACT.

In view of all that was said in the fight over confirmation of Judge Parker about the use of court injunctions to restrain labor unions from interfering with employes who have contracted not to join a union, a recent decision of the New York Supreme Court proves most interesting. The court sustained an injunction forbidding a corporation from violation of a contract not to employ nonunion workmen. In this case the injunction works to the advantage of the union. The contract, which discriminates against the nonunion man, was upheld. The boot is on the other foot.

Senators have just concluded a bitter attack upon a Federal judge and the Supreme Court because they upheld a contract in which the employe bound himself not to become affiliated with a union while in the employ of the company. A movement is now under way to enact legislation that will render such contracts unlawful, and to restrict the use of injunctions in labor disputes. Will Congress likewise outlaw the contract by which an employer binds himself to employ none but union men? Will use of the injunction to enforce this contract be forbidden? If use of the injunction is forbidden for the protection of individual or corporate interests and is allowed for protection of the unions, Congress will lay itself open to endless criticism. Whatever action is taken, there should be no discrimination.

The Parker episode, taken together with the ruling of the New York court, suggests the sacredness of a contract. The right of free contract is one of the invaluable and fundamental principles on which the modern conception of liberty rests. When Congress begins to tamper with the right of contract it is treading on dangerous ground. It is obvious that if the rights of the laborer to contract are circumscribed with legislative red tape, the same rights extending to employers and labor unions must also be curtailed. Where would this invasion of individual rights end? No one can say. The answer of the public will no doubt be that the right of free contract must be jealously guarded.

FIRE AND POLICE PAY.

The bill providing better pay for the personnel of the Fire and Police Departments has been postponed several times in the Senate on the request of a single senator. The House is yet to act upon the measure. Now that the way has been cleared for consideration of District subjects, the pay bill should be taken up, by all means. Careful consideration will prove its merits and the wisdom of enacting it at this session.

Both of the departments charged with protection of life and property in the District of Columbia are subjected to extraordinary hardships, due to changed conditions and municipal growth. Immense riches are subject to fire, and the increase of crime necessitates redoubled activities on the part of the police. Not having had any relief from Congress in the way of increased personnel or increased pay, the Police Department has been severely handicapped, and has suffered a loss of morale through no fault of its own. Many of the men are discouraged by the long delay in granting relief. They are not earning enough to live in comfort, and some of them feel that Congress is not only neglectful but indifferent to their best efforts. In spite of this feeling, however, the departments are carrying on, doing their best to protect life and property, and spreading their thin ranks over added ground.

The increased population of Washington, together with the great increase of property that must be guarded against fire, requires more generous treatment of the protective departments. Officers and men should have better pay, and there should be an increased force. The Government can not afford to take excessive risks when it is erecting buildings costing many millions of dollars upon which it carries no insurance. It should make the Fire and Police Departments fully capable of handling any situation. That is the best and cheapest kind of insurance.

PRESTIGE OR SECURITY

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Some of the advocates of subratio naval construction are now making the argument that if the United States built up to the London conference's allotment of auxiliaries it would be doing so only for purposes of prestige. This is a smoke screen intended to cover over other reasons for wishing to keep the American Navy below treaty parity. It apparently assumes that the other treaty signatories have greater actual naval needs than we have. It has been associated in the past with the contention that our claim of parity is irrational, that it rests, not on the necessities of national defense, but merely on the promptings of national pride.

Nothing is further than this from the realities of the situation, as must be evident to all Americans except members of those minority groups whose controlling purpose is to prevent the United States from having a first-class navy. We are not seeking naval prestige, but naval security. If we were concerned with prestige only we should never have called the Washington naval armament limitation conference of 1921-22. At that time we had in prospect the most powerful capital ship fleet in the world. We surrendered our advantage for the sake of establishing the principle of treaty limitation of warship tonnage. We let prestige slide and scrapped enough capital-ship construction to insure us tonnage inferiority to Great Britain in that category for the next thirteen or fourteen years.

Moreover, we failed to secure limitation of auxiliaries and soon found ourselves, by pursuing a policy of inaction related to neither prestige nor security, far behind Great Britain and Japan in the new and highly important classification of 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers. The United States showed national humility rather than national pride in its long and futile pursuit of a parity not to be attained through its own effort but by importuning others for political consideration and favors. That pursuit ended at Geneva in 1927. Those who falsely accuse the Nation of seeking prestige by building up to the limit conceded to us at London would undoubtedly like to see it resumed when it comes to spending the money to convert the new blue-print auxiliaries into actual ships.

Our naval policy aims at a treaty-regulated navy, kept at full strength as a means of national protection. We have ended unlimited competition in naval construction and have sacrificed much to do so, because we were better able to bear the burdens of such competition than any other power. Having contributed so largely to setting a limit, in the interest of international stabilization and confidence, it would be folly not to build up to the London treaty tonnage level. Nowhere is inferiority in strength punished so promptly and disastrously as at sea. Our naval needs are as great as those of any other naval power. We have more wealth than any other nation. We occupy an insular position, our shores facing the two great oceans.

Our foreign trade is practically equal to that of Great Britain, even including the latter's trade with the dominions and colonies. Our sea-borne commerce, including coastwise commerce, has passed her by a broad margin. We are beginning to create a merchant marine which will rival hers. Though the relations between the United States and Great Britain are friendly and will in all probability remain so, it is as important, in view of our place and mission in the world as well as hers, that the two navies should be kept on the plane of treaty equality. The chief result of the London conference was the extension of this equality to all classes of warships, and when the treaty is ratified it will become the unavoidable duty of the United States to live up to its obligations and benefits.

WATERMELONS.

Contrary to general opinion, says the Detroit News, science sometimes is benevolent. Now take the case of the watermelon. There was a fruit with a host of friends. The ripening of the watermelon served to reconcile humanity to the chill arrival of fall. When all nature seems to be going back on us; when the sweet promises of spring and the glorious realizations of summer met disillusionment in the frosts of autumn, the watermelon was our compensation.

One thing only the watermelon was thought to lack. It was beauteous. Artists, particularly those with commissions from the seed catalog publishers, have studied its lovely geometric proportions and its voluptuous coloring. Painted with one huge slice cut out and laid beside it on the platter, its somber green, its inner lining of white, its lusious red contrasting deliciously with the rich mahogany tones of its ripened seeds, were as satisfying to the painter as its full-flavored sweetness was to the epicure.

But still it was supposed to fall short of the ideal. For even its best friends never gave it credit as a source of much norishment. "Mostly sugar and water," they said.

And now comes along the department of agriculture and declares it is chock-full of vitamin A. That alone would have saved it. Any fruit that comes with a vitamin can get by with the dietitians. But, hold. The watermelon has vitamin B, also, and C and G. What a fruit!

Please pass the watermelon.

EVERY BOY'S CHANCE.

The night school swings its doors for all,
Nearby the libraries are.
Who will, has knowledge at his call,
Nor need he travel far.
Not much for wisdom need he pay,
However poor the lad,
He has a better chance today
Than Lincoln ever had.

However lowly born he seems,
A richer child is he
Than Lincoln with his youthful dreams
Who read beneath a tree.
However poor the circumstance
Which hedges him around,
Life offers him a better chance
Than Abraham Lincoln found.

Oh, boy, if courage you possess,
And have the will to learn,
No one can keep you from success,
From book to book you'll turn,
No library shelf to you is barred,
No school denied to you;
Your battle can not be as hard
As that which Lincoln knew.

Who has the will to understand
Will find wise teachers near;
The poorest urchin in the land
Has but himself to fear,
For 'spite of humble circumstance
And fate and fortune sad,
Today gives boys a better chance
Than Lincoln ever had.

Does Your Ability to Stand Alone Justify Stealing Another Man's Crutch?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE are men of a little learning who are so stubborn and ruthless in support of their own opinion and so selfishly indifferent to the welfare of mankind that they will speak their mind regardless of the cost to others and without hope of personal gain.

Say to one of these: "You may be right, friend; but there's nothing to be gained by expressing your opinion and you will make trouble for others," and he will answer you: "I don't care what happens to others I am right and I know I'm right and I'm going to say my say."

Among the people of this class are those who attack religion.

They do not hope to gain anything for themselves; they are not prompted by any desire to benefit mankind; they do not expect to achieve any good or win any profit for themselves or anybody else.

If they could triumph, their sole reward would be the satisfaction of winning an argument.

Yet pride of opinion urges them to greater and greater effort, despite the obvious fact that they have done and are doing incalculable harm.

They are vandals that tear down the temples of civilization without other motive than a lust for destruction.

Even if we assume that they are right—that there is no God and no hereafter—still their campaign is without justification, for it can do no good and the harm of it is beyond measure.

All experience has shown that the religion of western civilization is the greatest single force for the encouragement of morality and compassion.

There are people, heirs to several generations of culture, whose pride of family and class is sufficient to keep them decent and clean.

But the millions unsupported by caste standards must have something more than the dread of law to keep them in paths of virtue, and religion alone can do it.

Whether it is fear of punishment or hope of reward or delight in doing the will of God, religion serves to keep men from evil; and a land without religion is a land delivered to the lusts of the flesh.

This truth is known to all thinking men, whatever their faith or lack of it; and the man who combats religion knows full well that he is destroying the mainstay of virtue and decency.

If there were no God, wise and compassionate men would create one for the good of mankind.

America is tearing down unused churches and building more prisons.

THE OYSTER CRACKER BRAIN TEST.

("Half a peanut or one oyster cracker will sustain the brain of an Edison or an Einstein for one hour, concluded Dr. Francis G. Benedict and Cornelia G. Benedict, Carnegie Institution scientists, after a winter's research."—Associated Press.)

How it may have been done:

Monday—Called on Mr. Edison today with peanuts and oyster crackers, but he wasn't hungry. Then told him I would come back some other time.

Tuesday—Decided to try Edison again and got there before lunch. Placed bag of peanuts on the table, but he showed no interest. Finally urged him to try one. Said he didn't care for peanuts and wished I had brought caraway seeds. Offered him an oyster cracker, but he refused to touch them. Said Mrs. Edison was awfully fussy about crumbs on the floor. Pleaded with him to take one cracker as a personal favor. Said he was too busy, but to come back Wednesday.

Wednesday—Up early and to Mr. Edison with oyster cracker as per appointment. Mr. Edison in conference. Sent the oyster cracker to him with suggestion that he eat it at once. Mr. Edison refused, saying he never ate crackers in conference. Felt disappointed, but got one of Edison's assistants to eat one. Assistant showed marked reaction almost at once as per following chart:

9:05—Invented a better light than Edison's.

9:15—Discovered television telegram.

9:30—Announced a way to produce rubber from broccoli.

9:35—Announced a method for producing inner tubes from cauliflower, ox-eyed daisies and dandelion greens.

9:40—Was about to discover secret of perpetual motion when effect of oyster cracker began to wear off. Was afraid to feed him another for fear he would eclipse Edison. Wanted to try him on a peanut, but thought it hazardous.

Thursday—Got a wire from Mr. Edison. After discovering what his assistant had done on one oyster cracker he wanted immediate shipment of barrel.

* * * *

Saturday—Got word from European agent that Prof. Einstein had taken half a peanut and whole oyster cracker at one time, through misunderstanding. In half an hour he had thrown out the old Einstein theory and perfected eleven substitutes. It was then necessary to put ice packs on his head.

* * * *

Monday—Visited Henry Ford offices. Henry was suspicious, but offered to eat half a peanut if his son Edsel would eat the oyster cracker. I agreed. Henry's eyes took on an amazing sparkle at once. Edsel's forehead took on a most unusual glow. Inside of fifteen minutes Henry had worked out a combination Ford roadster, airplane and motor boat. Edsel announced invention of a gasoline substitute to be made from paper pie plates and old shaving-cream tubes.

Henry so pleased with effect of half a peanut on brain that he went on a peanut diet at once.

Tuesday—Decided to try experiment on myself. Ate two peanuts and a bowl of oyster crackers. Now I know who I am. I am Napoleon, Robert Fulton, Alexander Graham Bell, Eli Whitney, Watt and Morse.

A VITAL QUESTION.

Now that a war impends between England and India, it is the duty of every American to define his position. Are you pro-Hindu?

Of course, the British-Indian war will have to have a slogan, and the war office is busy on the matter now. Probably it will be finally classified as a war to make the world safe for sanitary saltmakers.

King George has worn the crown twenty years, and probably he feels he is still learning the business.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Clean-Up Rule Should Be Observed Every Day—Get the Women and Children Interested.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Says Vice President Curtis, "Loyal support of all should be given to the District Commissioners not only during the special week of May 19 which they have designated for civic beautification, but throughout the entire year."

Indeed, it would be a good thing if the slogan, "Clean, be clean," should be kept in mind at all times.

In this connection there is one source of street littler which could be gotten rid of by a little care on the part of the public. That is newspapers left loose on park benches, front porches, or otherwise thrown out to be carried wherever the wind listeth. There is nothing more unsightly than the soiled and tattered remnants of the daily papers strewn about the city.

One thing which I think might help a good deal would be to educate our children in regard to keeping the streets clean as a civic duty. At least once a year for a period of several weeks they make unsightly chalk marks on fences and the walls of houses, and to teach them not to do this might be worth the trouble.

The yearly clean-up week has hitherto been a success, but as yet conditions in the streets and alleys, although much improved, have not been altogether satisfactory throughout the entire year. Indeed, I am afraid the year-round clean-up ideal will not be realized until we get the women Board of District Commissioners about which one of your correspondents has written.

Study of Medical Costs and Hospital Care Will Help—Periodic Health Examination a Good Thing.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now we have doctors studying the high cost of illness!

A general discussion of various problems of hospitalization and of papers on the more special problems should have far-reaching results, both for the medical profession in Washington and the general public. For the medical profession it will enable a more thorough knowledge of the cost of various kinds of ailments and diseases for various periods, and it will be better able to advise the general public on all matters of medical cost.

All this to the layman will serve to emphasize the need of periodic health examination. If he knows exactly the cost of treatment for any ailment he may develop, or already has symptoms of developing, he is likely to favor frequent and regular health examinations in the hope of escaping these diseases entirely, or escaping with very little cost. Since he will known the probable cost of getting sick, he will know just how far he can go and stay within salary bounds.

To those who seldom or never get sick—well, they may have a long and "glorious" life ahead of them and a "fatter" and better lined pocketbook.

Suggests That Colored Platoon School Be Named for Neval Holland Thomas.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In connection with the naming of schools to be built in the District in the near future I wish to submit this suggestion to the Board of Education for consideration. I suggest that the colored platoon school in Northeast Washington be named Neval Holland Thomas School in honor of a man who gave his life for the recognition and uplift of his people.

Neval Holland Thomas, former teacher of American history in Washington high schools for a quarter century, who passed away April 13, 1930, was a man of fine character and fearless attitude, and was an untiring worker in behalf of the rights of the colored people.

From 1925 until the time of his death Mr. Thomas was president of the Washington branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Because of the fine characteristics which Mr. Thomas possessed, both as a teacher and as a champion of human rights, I feel that his name should be kept before the people as an inspiration and as an example for others to follow.

Georgetown Should Have a Branch Public Library.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: At the last meeting of the Georgetown Citizens Association, John Hadley Doyle, Albert Parish and others discussed plans for a mass meeting to urge that an allotment be made in the next District budget for a branch library in Georgetown. From the first it has been a wonder to me that other sections, to which the main library is more accessible, have been granted branches, while we have been neglected.

On account of our location, our large population, our historic importance in the growth of the National Capital, it seems to me that Georgetown should have been the first to be served by a library branch, and I trust the effort to secure it will be a success.

Better Feeling Toward Police, and Public Desire That They Be Better Paid.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The recent official commendation of three policemen: J. F. Flaherty, J. H. Wessels, and W. J. Perkins, at the request of citizens, not only marked an auspicious occasion at the commencement of Gen. Herbert B. Crosby's term as a District Commissioner, but is a pleasant reminder of the fact that the relationship of public and police is much more cordial than in the past. The policeman is better understood. I feel certain that every citizen of the District will be gratified when the bill raising the pay of our police force is passed and signed by the President.

HOOVER WILL STAY OUT OF TARIFF ROW

Impression Is Obtained After Talk With Bacharach on New Measure.

LONG DEADLOCK LOOMS

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover will not intervene in an attempt to untangle the tariff situation on Capitol Hill arising out of the conference deadlock over the flexible provision.

This was the definite impression gained yesterday after a conference between Mr. Hoover and Representative Bacharach (Republican), New Jersey, one of the conferees on the Hawley-Smoot measure.

Mr. Bacharach discussed the tariff with the Executive coincidentally with other matters and came away from the White House firmly convinced that Congress would have to settle its tariff differences without any more statements from the President.

First Message Recalled.

Mr. Hoover in his message to the regular session repeated the views expressed in his message to the special session April 16, 1929, when he advocated continuance of executive authority under the flexible clause to change duties after investigation by the Tariff Commission as a "necessity in protection of public interest."

The House has overwhelmingly voted to support that stand and its conferees are insisting that the Senate, whose bill restores the flexible power to Congress, free its conferees of the pledge binding them to support the Senate's provision so they can work out a compromise settlement.

In an effort to gain this free hand, the Senate conferees are ready to go back to the Senate and ask its consent. They will meet the House conferees today and agree to their request that the Senate do something about the matter even if it entails a lengthy contest. And the Democrats and Republican Independents, who wrote the legislative flexible provision in the bill over Mr. Hoover's protest, are prepared to fight out this point—as Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas, put it—"if it takes all summer."

Leaders Are Concerned.

Republican leaders frankly are concerned over the outlook for the bill. Unless the Senate consents to release its conferees from the pledge not to recede on the flexible clause, they say, a hopeless deadlock may occur.

The tariff dispute reached the Senate floor during the day when Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, took exception to a statement issued Monday by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, accusing Democrats of voting for duty increases on commodities of their own States and then opposing the bill as a whole.

"This is an attempted smokescreen to defend a bill which he can not and dare not defend on its merits," Mr. Black said. He added he had voted for only five increases and that was no reason why he should "swallow the whole iniquitous bill."

Gifford Pinchot Stung By Hornet in Vote Drive

Williamsport, Pa., May 13 (A.P.).—Gifford Pinchot was stung today.

The former governor, continuing his campaign tour for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, found a hornet up his sleeve while en route from Williamsport to Nancy and received a very painful sting. He continued on his journey after a brief stop.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

WHAT Senator Nye and his fellow members of the campaign funds committee desire with a profound, fond and fiery yearning is the answer to this vexing and vital query:

At exactly what figure do legitimate expenditures in vote getting slop over the bounds of decency and become a slush fund to be scorned and despised by all men?

A product of the wild and woolly West, Chairman Nye is not so wild and woolly as was "Jim" Reed when the Missourian, breathing brimstone and bawlings, got on the trail of millions used to debauch the electorate. Nevertheless, if the stories pouring into the investigating committee from Illinois and Pennsylvania are true, something wild and woolly will doubtless be done.

About what? Right there is the problem, the puzzle and the perplexity.

* * * *

WE Americans have standardized pretty much everything except slush funds. Out in Wisconsin they are trying to put Gov. Kohler on the spot and shoot out his political life because he is alleged to have spent more than $4,000 in having himself named for his high honor.

When Mr. Newberry, of Michigan, invested $190,000 in his campaign, his colleagues, shocked into shivering shudders, threw him on his face, charging that he was no longer fit to grace the Senate of the United States.

Today Mrs. McCormick, having admitted that she checked out of her own funds the nifty little amount of $252,000 in taking the nomination away from Mr. Deneen, is charged by the Democrats with having benefited from the use of much more than that.

* * * *

WELL, what about it? Is $252,000—more than four times what a senator's salary would be for the full term of six years—a slush fund or legitimate expenses? And, if it is a slush fund, does it make much difference, except in degree, how much more than that was dumped into it?

If $250,000 is not a slush fund, how much more does it take to make a slush fund? And if a paltry $4,001.99 is a thing to make honest men hang their heads in shame in Wisconsin, what is 63 times that sum in Illinois, Pennsylvania or any other Eastern State.

Boy! Page Euclid, the mathematician; Machiavelli, the politician, and Rhadamanthus, the judge, and ask them to report their findings to Mr. Nye.

What's the good in hunting a slush fund when nobody knows what a slush fund is? It's like hunting a Snark. As the Butcher remarked on that historic occasion:

The method employed I would gladly explain
While I have it so clear in my head,
If I had but the time and you had but the brain—
But much yet remains to be said!

M'BRIDE INDORSES FORT BILL AS COMPROMISE FOR WETS

men and that the league supports some bibulous dry voters, came in a colloquy with Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, who asked if the league applies any test to candidates for public office other than their attitude on prohibition. Dr. McBride said the organization is interested in other considerations as well. "You will recall," Senator Blaine said, "that there was before the committee a list of wet-drinking, dry-voting congressmen. You are not concerned about the personal habits of members of Congress, I assume."

Supports Wet Drinkers.

The witness protested that the league is concerned and explained that, "we don't think it is a good thing for any man, whether he be in Congress or out of Congress to drink."

"But you support men who are wet drinking, do you not?" Blaine asked.

"In some districts," Dr. McBride admitted.

"In some districts?" Senator Blaine inquired.

"Not very many of them," Dr. McBride explained. "Most of them are on the pages of the newspapers, not in fact. I think the members of the Congress, House and Senate, are as high classed a group of men as you would find in any group in America, and they are drinking just a little."

Interviewed House Members.

When Senator Blaine asked Dr. McBride what had been done about the Judge English impeachment, the witness explained that he had made an investigation of the judge's record on prohibition cases in East St. Louis and that he did not want to see a "good judge" ousted by the wets. Pursuant to that determination, he said, he had interviewed several members of the Illinois and Ohio delegations in the House while the impeachment resolution was pending.

"Do you think it is proper to go to the members of the House, who sit as a grand jury while the Senate sits as a trial court, and give them private information that is not given to all members of the House?" asked Chairman Caraway (Democrat) Arkansas.

Severe on Liquor Crowd.

Dr. McBride replied that he "wanted to see Judge English get a square deal," and he was "just trying to tell the facts."

In his investigation of Judge English's record, Dr. McBride said, he found that the former "was a severe judge on the liquor people."

Earlier Dr. McBride had declared that Judge English was "a personal friend and one of our dry leaders, and he was in one of the toughest spots in the world, East St. Louis."

Senator Blaine dug into the league records, which have been seized by the committee, and produced the minutes of an executive committee meeting in Washington, May 19, 1927, containing a resolution favoring continuation of the league policy of "urging the appointment of a prohibition commissioner in sympathy with the law," and also containing the following recommendation:

"That President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon be respectfully reminded of the unmistakable understanding that was had at the time of the passage of the prohibition reorganization bill."

Disclaims Knowledge of Pact.

Although he testified that he was present at that meeting as general superintendent and the records showed the resolution was adopted by an unanimous vote, Dr. McBride disclaimed all knowledge of the transaction.

"I was not in on it," he replied to a question as to the nature of the "unmistakable understanding."

Blaine then produced the report submitted by Dr. McBride at the league meeting in Detroit in January, 1930, pointing out that this report was typewritten and declared that it contained more details than were included in the printed report prepared for general circulation.

"In addition to the legislative matters included in the printed report," the confidential document declared, "most of the duties of the Washington office have to do with the securing of the right kind of appointees."

Gave Information on Appointees.

Under questioning by Blaine, Dr. McBride admitted that the appointees referred to were those named to public offices having to do with enforcement of the prohibition law. He declared, however, that this referred to nothing more than the league's policy of "giving information" on prospective appointees.

The hearing started off with a brief flare-back to the bitter interchange last week between Senator Blaine and Dr. McBride over the latter's claim that the league is of divine origin.

"After a week-end rest do you still believe in the divine right of kings?" asked Senator Blaine as Dr. McBride took the witness stand.

"I decline to answer that question, it has nothing to do with this hearing," the witness replied.

"Do you know that every cruel and wicked tyrant in the past has always claimed that he was an instrument of God?" Senator Blaine persisted.

"I don't know it, and I don't think you do, either," Dr. McBride answered.

"Well, I do know that in the burnings at the stake and so forth during the inquisition, and in all their wickedness they always claimed to be instruments of God and preceded their burnings with prayer," Senator Blaine remarked and then turned to other subjects.

Sought to Prevent Vote.

Taking up Dr. McBride's previous testimonuy that the Antisaloon League had sought to prevent the drys from voting in referenda in Illinois on prohibition modification proposals, Senator Blaine read from the official Illinois blue book to show that the votes cast on these questions had been quite as numerous as votes cast in the same elections on other subjects.

In 1922, Senator Blaine recalled, there were 1,577,000 votes cast on a light wines and beer proposal, while on the same day there were 1,723,000 votes cast in a referendum dealing with a proposed soldier's bonus. Later in the same year, in an election on the question of adopting a new State constitution, there were only 1,106,000 votes cast.

In 1926, a proposal involving the revision of the entire State tax system drew only 1,128,000 votes, while on the same day another modification question received 1,397,000 ballots, pro and con, Senator Blaine pointed out.

Not Interested in Referanda.

The witness explained that the drys are not interested in wet and dry referenda, because "there is no use running for a train after you are on board."

Dr. McBride obtained permission to insert in the record an official statement of the league's position formulated by its board of directors on the question of referenda which reads as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this board that the temperance forces of the United States should not be diverted from the main issues in any election to so-called wet and dry referenda on the eighteenth amendment or the national prohibition act, which referenda are without authority under the Constitution and which are legally futile and can have no binding effect.

Recesses for Week.

"In any State referenda having to do with laws or State constitutional provisions which will have a legal and binding effect the temperance forces should take an active part."

The committee recessed until next Tuesday at the conclusion of yesterday's hearings, to permit members to attend other committee meetings scheduled this week. Chairman Caraway announced that he had rescinded the request he made Monday for the appearance of Miss A. L. Burroughs, of Richmond, Va., who, as treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats, handled part of the funds donated in 1928 to Bishop James Cannon, Jr., by E. C. Jameson, of New York.

Senator Caraway said he had planned to ask Miss Burroughs about the expenditure of the $48,000, still unaccounted for, out of the $65,300 given to the bishop. However, the chairman explained, he is now satisfied that Miss Burroughs had nothing to do with the expenditure of the $48,000 and questioning on that matter will be deferred until the bishop testifies.

Fruit Trees Hurt Slightly by Frost

U. S. Report Shows Farming Conditions Near Capital Are Improving.

Farming conditions in the vicinity of Washington were reported improving yesterday by the Department of Agriculture. Late reports on the effect of the April freeze on fruit, particularly in the apple-growing sections of Virginia, indicate that the damage was spotted and less than first feared, the report stated.

Both cabbage and onions were reported in a rather weak market position around the middle of May. Potato prices are also lower under the rapidly increasing shipments, but strawberry markets are in good condition. Lettuce, tomatoes and celery have declined slightly at shipping points. Movement of asparagus in carlots is decreasing, supplies coming mostly from South Carolina, Illinois and California.

Movement of cucumbers began in Alabama and Louisiana and shipments are increasing from Texas and Florida. A marked decrease has occurred in carlot movement of spinach as the Virginia season drew toward a close, but output of string beans has increased greatly, especially from Louisiana and Florida. Combined movement of 26 leading fruits and vegetables for the week ended May 10 increased only slightly to 15,815 cars, approximately 3,700 less than the number for the same period last year.

PROTEST TENDERED BY FRELINGHUYSEN

Objects to G. O. P. Officials in New Jersey Giving Aid to Morrow.

ELECTION STATUTE CITED

A vigorous protest against members of the New Jersey Republican State committee taking an active part in the senatorial fight was registered yesterday by former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who is being opposed for the nomination by Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow.

Members of the State committee have been reported to Mr. Frelinghuysen as wielding their influence in various sections of the State in an effort to advance the candidacy of Ambassador Morrow.

Mr. Frelinghuysen sent an open letter to Chairman E. Bertram Mott, of the State committee, declaring that the active part being taken by State committee members is "contrary both to the letter and spirit of the law regulating our primaries."

"I enter my respectful protest against this attitude of the State committee members," Mr. Frelinghuysen wrote. "I do not ask their activity in my behalf and I am sure my opponents would not ask this irregularity in their behalf."

Word is still being anxiously awaited by New Jersey Republicans from Representative Franklin W. Fort as to whether he had reached a decision to enter the senatorial fight as a dry candidate. He is expected to make a statement concerning his position within a few days.

Mr. Morrow is expected to outline his policy on prohibition when he opens his campaign in Essex County tomorrow night. He is expected to declare for a modification of the eighteenth amendment. Mr. Frelinghuysen has declared for modification.

Commissioners Hit Drugless Healers

Capital Heads Recommend Adverse Action on Bill of Naturopathists.

Efforts of the naturopathists to extend the legal scope of their healing activities struck a snag yesterday when the District Commissioners asked Congress not to enact the pending bill lauthorizing naturopathists to administer drugs.

Definition of naturopathy was one of the difficult tasks confronting the commission on licensure of the healing arts. The definition proposed by the naturopathists was so broad as to include every branch of healing. The definition finally adopted provided for licensing of naturopathists, but the definition restricted them from administering drugs or performing operations on the person. Apparently, the naturopathists wanted broader fields of activity and had introduced the bill upon which the Commissioners commented so adversely yesterday.

"'Naturopathy' has always been known as a system of drugless healing, and it would seem, therefore, that internal medication could have no part whatever in their method of healing. For these reasons the Commissioners recommend an adverse action on the bill."

HOOVER WILL FISH ON TRIP, HE IMPLIES

gone forth that Mr. Hoover's vacation trip is to be something in the nature of a political barnstorming tour, with a number of presidential speeches thrown in, additional invitations were received from Western cities. As before, the Western mayors, chambers of commerce and other bodies asked the President to stop off at their towns, and—if he liked—to make a speech.

The remarks of the Chief Executive on fishing, the humanness of it, and the lack of political understanding of all fish in general, were highly amusing. Mr. Hoover, it is understood, considers August the fishermen's month. He also believes August to be a month for relaxation and not work. The inference seemed clear that President Hoover considers political speech-making real work. He said he hoped to fish in the Western streams. He did not definitely say that he would or would not make a few speeches.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO LIMIT MEXICANS

Votes, 51 to 16, to Reduce Laborers' Immigration Into United States.

BORAH MAKES PROTEST

The Senate, by a vote of 51 to 16, yesterday passed the Harris bill applying the immigration quota to Mexico, thereby reducing the movement of Mexican laborers into the United States from approximately 58,000 to 1,900 annually.

The bill, which recently had been debated for several days without result, originally applies the quota to all countries of the Western Hemisphere except Canada. It was sent back to the immigration committee, and reconsideration was approved yesterday on the motion of Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York.

Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, offered a substitute to limit the quota restriction to Mexico. The bill previously had become involved in a parliamentary snarl when Senator Norbeck (Repulbican), North Dakota, had succeeded in eliminating the national origins method of allotting the quota, and proponents of Mexican restriction decided to confine its provision to Mexico alone.

Although sixteen senators, mostly Republicans, voted against the measure, Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, was the only one to protest.

"I am in sympathy with the policy of restricted immigration," said Senator Borah, "but I can not favor a bill which singles out Mexico."

Philippine Police Plan Drive Against Outlaws

Manila, May 13 (A.P.).—The Philippine constabulary today planned a general drive against Moro outlaws on Mindanao Island who recently killed four of the constabulary and wounded ten others.

The Moro bomb-proof fort in the mountains of the Lanao Province was destroyed, but Sultan Mamur has established a new stronghold. The constabulary expect to attack it within two or three days. Gen. Charles E. Nathorst, chief of the constabulary, who is en route to Mindanao from Manila, is expected to organize a general campaign against the Moro cattle thieves and assassins, starting with Sultan Mamur.

Ford Denies Stock Purchases in Bank

Office Refutes Rumors of Interest in Institution in New York City.

Detroit, May 13 (A.P.).—Flat denial that the Ford interests have been purchasing stock in the National City Bank of New York as reported last Saturday by the Journal of Commerce was made at the Ford offices in Dearborn today. The Ford interests are not buying any bank stock anywhere, it was said.

"Neither Mr. Henry Ford nor Mr. Edsel Ford has acquired stock in the National City Bank of New York," the statement said. After denying also that any of the Ford interests have purchased such stock, the statement added:

"We rarely deny rumors, and we do not intend to begin the practice now, but this report was disseminated so widely as to call for denial. The Fords are not buying any bank stock anywhere."

Defenders Score In Mimic Air War

Difficulties of Blues Will Be Increased Today at Aberdeen.

The defending Blue forces at Aberdeen, Md., yesterday gained a little in the aerial war with a Red Army from Bolling Field over the 100-mile strip of ground and air between them. While complete reports from the front were not available last night, it was learned that the network of observation posts put out by the Blues functioned excellently, and the Red planes were met and conquered on practically every raid.

During the day, six attacks were made by the Red Forces. Three flights of three bombardment planes each, and three flights of three attack planes each, swept over the embattled area.

Beginning today, difficulties of the defenders will be greatly increased. On the two previous days, the Blue forces knew exactly the routes which would be taken by the Red planes, their speeds and their time schedules. From today on, attackers will fly erratic courses, unknown to the Blues, who will attempt to locate them and send out pursuit planes in time to prevent destruction of their Capital.

Mr. Robinson May Return to Washington

Former Assistant Navy Chief Has Bought Home, Report.

By JEAN ELIOT.

ARE Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson coming back to Washington to make their home? Echo answers "yes," although their daughter, Mrs Blaise de Sibour, denies that they have any such intention "yet," and further says that, if her parents have purchased a house—or more properly two houses—in Georgetown, she doesn't know it.

However, diplomatic denials are often in order until i's are dotted and t's are crossed in any business deal. And the rumor persists, authenticated from a half dozen sources, that Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have bought two nice little old houses at 2359 and 2363 N street and propose to link them into one commodious mansion just as Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick has done with her picturesque Georgetown residence. The houses probably date from the same period as the residence next door, 3257 N street, which is the new home of Representative and Mrs. Lewis Douglas and which was built in 1791.

The plan is, it is said, for the three gardens to be thrown together and landscaped in harmony, since the Douglases and the Robinsons are friends as well as prospective neighbors. Miss Genevieve Hendricks has just completed the work of restoration of Representative and Mrs. Douglas' house, which is described as delightful, and which boasts much carved woodwork and fine old paneling.

Since Mr. Robinson resigned the post of Assistant Secretary of the Navy—so long, apparently, hereditary in the Roosevelt clan—he and his engaging family have been much missed. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are now on their way home from Europe, where they have been for the last few weeks, and are due to land on Friday.

Mrs. J. Blaise de Sibour, who was Miss "Betsy Mary" Robinson, makes her home here, and Miss Helen Robinson is at present a visitor in Washington, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson. Miss Robinson's marriage to Mr. John Arthur Hinckley, which is set for June 14, will take place at the country home of the Robinsons, near Herkimer, N. Y.

Presumably they will make their home in the Capital in the future, for Mr. Hinckley is with a brokerage house here. There have been some rumors of his possible transfer to New York.

Dr. George E. MacLean will sail on the Berengaria today for his summer home in Bournemouth, England. During the summer he will attend and address a meeting of the Bronte Society. He expects to return to Washington the latter part of September.

Two interestng musical events announced for the next few days at the Arts Club are a recital tomorrow evening, with Mrs. S. Peter Wagner, soprano, and Mrs. John Huston, pianist, and a special concert on Sunday evening, when Mr. Felian Garzia will present 10-year-old Anne Susar in a piano recital at 8:30 o'clock. This musical "infant" will render selections from Mozart, Beethoven, Bach, Haydn, Chopin and other composers, classical and modern.

Miss Mary Alsop Cryder will be the hostess at the Thursday evening concert, when Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Huston will be the guests of honor.

Capital Horse Lovers to See Show Opening

Event at Bradley Farms Attracts Throng of Enthusiasts.

The horse this week will come into its own. With the Kentucky Derby claiming "long distance" attention from racing fans and the National Capital horse show the focus of all eyes in Washington during the four remaining days of the week sports lovers anticipate a busy calendar.

Opening at Bradley Farms today the National Capital Horse Show will lure official and resident society to the famous farms and heading the list of those planning to attend is Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, who has signified intention to be present during the afternoon. Whether Vice President Curtis will be able to leave the Capitol is indefinite but he may attend. Also invited to attend the show are Gov. Pollard of Virginia, his daughter, Miss Suzanne Pollard, and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

One of the important events of the year, the horse show brings back many Washingtonians who supported the association through its earlier years. Col. Robert M. Thompson, of New York, honorary president and one of the organizers more than 20 years ago, is one of the box holders.

Mrs. Bernard Gimbel and her daughters, Miss Carrol Gimbel and Miss Hope Gimbel, will occupy a box and ride in several saddle and jumping classes. Lieut. Col. Eaton, of Oakville, Ontario, will be here for the opening day and will show in several classes. Mrs. William Howard Good, of Brooklyn, will occupy her box during the show.

Many luncheons, teas and box-parties are planned at Bradley Farm House and among the many who have made reservations for luncheons are Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William D. Connor, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry T. Allen, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, Col. and Mrs. Douglas McCaskey and Col. and Mrs. Harry Cootes.

Made New
$4 to $9

The costly part of a mattress is the inside, be it felt or hair. The inside does not wear out. But it does pack! It develops a "sink" in the middle. It becomes less comfortable. You may not notice the difference—so gradual is the change.

Mattresses also get dirty—invariably. They collect germs and dust. You may sun them. You may air them. But you cannot clean the inside.

Why can't a mattress be sterilized—all germs destroyed—and the valuable felt or hair cleaned—combed and put into brand-new ticking?

It is possible now to do this very thing. At Zaban's factory thousands of used mattresses have been taken in and sterilized in an electric oven. There 230 degrees of heat kills all germs.

Old tickings are then destroyed—the valuable inside made as buoyant and clean as new and put into charming new ticking. The charge for manufacturing a new mattress out of an old one is only $4 to $9. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

Phone Zaban's, National 9410, and their van will call. If orders are received early in the morning, the mattress will be returned the same day. Remember the telephone number—National 9410.

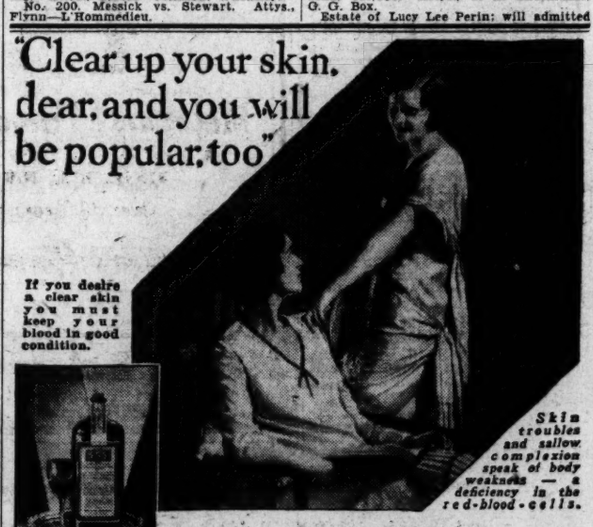
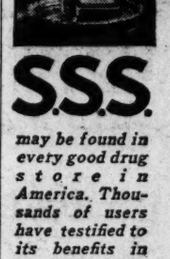
"Clear up your skin, dear, and you will be popular, too"



If you desire a clear skin you must keep your blood in good condition.

Skin troubles and sallow complexion speak of body weakness — a deficiency in the red-blood-cells.



A lovely, clear skin is within your reach

may be found in every good drug store in America. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the remedy which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. Sold in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

© S.S.S. Co.

WITH the last blemish gone, confidence returns. More friends, more invitations—more good times. With the joy and pride of possessing a clear skin, self-respect increases.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely, clear skin is within the reach of all. To you who have lost it, hope is offered, that you, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low.

The natural way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, take a few bottles of S.S.S.

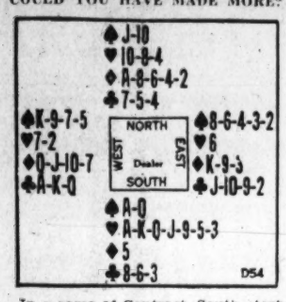
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE MADE MORE?



In a game of Contract, South started the above hand with a bid of three Hearts which West did not feel strong enough to double. North bid four and that ended it.

In Auction, South might have bid one, two or three Hearts, depending upon what he wanted to accomplish If he wished to encourage adverse bidding, he would call one; if he wished to show his partner that he held at least six Hearts headed by Ace-King-Queen, his bid would be two; but if anxious to shut out adverse bidding, he would say three.

Over a bid of one or two Hearts West might double informatorily, and draw a Spade bid from East. Following that West and East doubtless would carry the bidding to four and make it; unless South ventured five Hearts. If he did, he would go down one but score 100 for honors.

In the actual play at Contract, West started by winning three Club tricks. He then led a Diamond which dummy won. Then two rounds of trumps, the second won in dummy, exhausted the adverse trumps; after that the Spade finesse was tried. It failed and let in the adversaries' fourth and game-saving trick.

Could you have made more?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

After winning the fourth trick, Declarer knew that he needed every remaining trick and that a successful Spade finesse would ring the bell; but to lose that finesse meant to lose game. Before taking this risk there was another plan that should have been tried, viz, an attempt to establish a thirteenth Diamond in dummy.

To trick 5 a small Diamond should be led and ruffed with an honor in closed hand. South then should lead the Five of Hearts, dummy winning with the Eight; this play to be followed by another Diamond from dummy, also ruffed with an honor. This, with both adversaries following suit, would make a total of ten Diamonds played and would assure game without a Spade finesse.

South next should lead the Nine of Hearts, winning with dummy's Ten and, the adverse trumps being exhausted, a fourth round of Diamonds again ruffed high by closed hand would establish dummy's last Diamond and permit South to lead the Trey of Hearts, putting dummy in with the Four so that the thirteenth Diamond could be cashed an dthe Queen of Spades discarded on it.

Ballou Will Return Tomorrow.

Dare Interprets the Mode

The approach of June brings to our attention this white georgette bride's dress of Grecian inspiration. (Courtesy of Molyneux, Paris.)

Paris, May 13

MOLYNEUX is one of my favorite couturiers. Mind you I never had the pleasure of owning a Molyneux gown, but if I ever write the great American novel and move to heights of dizzy fame and fortune, I'll own several!

In no other salon de couture is the modern woman in all of her quiet loveliness and elegance better portrayed. Eschewing anything that even remotely borders on the striking or theatrical, his house displays an infallible good taste without, as unfortunately so often happens, finding it necessary to sacrifice a bit of smartness to this good taste.

In their newest collection of late summer and early fall models, not a daytime skirt is either too long or too short. Evening gowns are, of course, long and quietly elegant, with one particular line that is typical of the house and extremely flattering evidenced in all of them. This line has a semibolero effect in the back which covers what is very often a bad line between the natural waistline and the hips, then with a flounce or pleating or fringe even, repeats the movement of this bolero just below the hips. The third tier then reaches to the ankles.

Why in the world will a modern girl elope and be married in her going-away clothes, when she has a chance to move slowly and graciously toward the altar in the regal loveliness of flowing white? Maybe she thinks she and Bob will just do it quietly without any fuss and anyway it's over so quickly!

So just to change her mind for her I have sketched Molyneux's lovely new white georgette wedding gown, with its slim slendor train and Grecian inspired incrustations. And I thought as I sketched it how charming it would be as a formal evening gown in her new wardrobe, white being so much the mode.

• • • •

And Molyneux's concession to modernized bridal loveliness by way of a bouquet is lilies of white velvet tied with the white satin streamers!

• • • •

Apropos of feeling furrish today, might it amuse you to know that we don't know a single thing about gallack? M. Helm says that it is a quality of very fine broadtail, and that the word in Russian means "shaved" or "bald." But then the beautiful Russian artist says it doesn't, so what is one going to do about it, alas! alors!

• • • •

Several large Paris couturiers and Dare have put their several heads together and devised the most astonishingly chic and practical and comfortable house dress that you ever did see, and now all you have to do is see that a stamped, self-adressed envelope gets to the Dare Department of the Washington Post, by the first mail; 'N then all Dare has to do is to see that you get this week's illustrated leaflet telling you just how to make this fashionable garment.

And you could wear it for tennis . . . and you could slip it on in a jiffy when the doorbell rings or you dash out for a wee bit of shopping Oh, you could do so much if you'd only make one.

Then there's the weekly Dare fashion letter, which you should never miss. It's in The Washington Post every Sunday.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

Curried Eggs.

(Department of Agriculture.)

6 eggs.
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper.
2 tablespoons chopped onion.
2 tablespoons chopped celery.
1 teaspoon curry.
1 teaspoon salt.
3 drops tabasco sauce.
3 tablespoons flour.
2 cups cooked rice.

Cook the eggs hard. Make a sauce as follows: Melt the butter in a skillet, add the green pepper, onion and celery and cook for 2 or 3 minutes. Stir into this the seasoning and the flour, mix well and add the cold milk. Cook for 3 or 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Arrange over it the hard-cooked eggs, cut in quarters, and pour the hot sauce over the eggs and rice. Sprinkle the top with chopped parsley and serve at once.

Break the desired number of eggs in a shallow, greased baking dish, add a few teaspoons of cream and salt enough to season, and sprinkle with a mixture of grated cheese and fine, dry bread crumbs. Set this dish in a pan containing hot water and bake in a moderate over until the eggs set and the crumbs are brown. Just before serving, add a few dashes of paprika.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

A DOLLAR-A-YEAR GARDEN.

JUST think, all the flowers you want and some left over to divide with your friends, all for a dollar. Of course, you must have a bit of ground and a desire for a garden

This isn't a particularly new idea. It has been voiced by magazine writers and the growers for years, but it is a truly practical one which I hope you will try. To be explicit, the idea is to invest $1 each year for five years in seed, at the end of which time you will have a large collection of plants from which to arrange all sorts of delightful color schemes.

If you are making your first garden it will be more practical to invest your first dollar in annuals, as the perennials take two years to mature. A beginner rarely is content to wait two years to cut the first blossoms. The following is a good list for the amateur's garden: A sweet alyssum, candy tuft, early flowering and dwarf cosmos, larkspur, marigold, phlox, petunia, snapdragon and zinnia. If you will be careful to remove the seed pods, this particular combination will supply you with plenty of flowers to decorate your house or give to your friends, from early summer until the Scotch plaid days of autumn.

Toward the end of summer it will be well to permit some of the better sorts to go to seed for self-sowing the following year.

If among your flowers this season you find blossoms of unusual lovely coloring, save the seeds and carefully label them. These will be a welcome addition to next year's garden.

If your first garden is small, as is apt to be the way of first gardens, it may be better to divide the dollar-a-year plant and spend 50 cents for annual seed and the remainder for perennial seed. In which case let me suggest that you retain the larkspur, petunias and cosmos, for I promised you would have plenty of blossoms for your house and friends.

Coreopsis, boltonia, aquilegia, African daisy and campanials (Canterbury Bells) are all perennials of easy culture.

All these varieties are easily grown, therefore well suited for a first garden. The seeds should be soaked in warm water at least two hours before you sow them. You must, if you would be successful, use good soil and partial shade.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS."

IF May 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 5:30 a. m. to 7 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Trouble from the man higher up, or from the "powers that be," is anticipated on this date, and it behooves you to watch your step. The influences are upsetting to health. Extravagant expenditures will be followed by future sacrifices.

The child born on this May 14 will have a difficult time during its first years, but it will have the will power and perseverance to come through with flying colors. It will have ability in many directions, and it is bound to achieve success or fame. It will be philosophical.

There is a great deal of laughter in your nature. When there is a twinkle in the eye, there is a spark of heaven in the heart. The man or woman who can see the humorous side of life is usually easy to get along with, and you are no exception to the rule. You coax people, with a smile, to do what others scare them into doing through bogies of fear. You are neither a whining loser, nor a gloating winner, in the big game of life. You will not always be "in luck," but it is seldom that the world is the wiser when misfortune knocks at your door.

You are too tender hearted not to have a sensitive nature, but you are not thin skinned, and you are not looking for slights or abuses. You are not immune to the pricks or heart stabs which come your way, but you try not to flinch. You are very generous, and very sympathetic, and both of these traits are taken advantage of by those who need a helping hand.

You are not naturally energetic, but you like the comforts and luxuries of life too well not to work for them. You do not seek many pleasures outside of the home, and you do not care for traveling. Your children, if you have any, will adore you, and you will be more pal than parent.

2—David A. Wasson, clergyman and author.

3—Sir Squire Bancroft, English actor.

5—Alton B. Parker, lawyer and politician.

The Goofus Moose

This Goofus Moose wants to get loose,
And I can't say I blame him
Because he has a good excuse,
You see they've tried to tame him
And use him as a Zoo attraction,
Which almost drives him to distraction
Because he can not learn to care
For folks who simply stand and stare!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

"IGNORE HIM."

DEAR Miss McDonald: I read your articles every day but I have never read one to fit my case.

I have been married over a year. Before I was married, the man who is now my husband, would have done anything or gone any place he thought I cared about or even hinted at. Things certainly have changed. I have never, since I have been married, asked him to do one favor, whether to go some place to get something for me that he has done so willingly. I never knew that one could be so grouchy. He never carries on a conversation at home and never has a pleasant word for me. I have tried being agreeable. I have tried being grouchy. I have tried being silent, but none of these will help.

Can't you help me? I came from a home where every one is so pleasent and loves to discues their affairs, into this (I don't know what to call it). Tell me what method to follow and whatever you say I will surely do. Thanking you, I am, PAULA.

Take up some interest outside of your home at once. Be so absorbed in it that your husband will be merely incidental to it. In other words, put him back into the position from which matrimony fitted him. Before marriage he was just one interested in your very pleasent and satisfying life. Now he is your whole life. You sit about hoping for his favor, pondering his moods. Why should you? Just try being too busy to listen instead of too eager to talk. It will work wonders for both of you. You know, a man once wrote me asking why the average woman was content to sit around all day waiting for a man to come home and furnish her conversation. He particularly resented his wife's eternal "What happened today?" She asked it regularly for some ten years and he wondered if he would hear it each night until he died.

Of course some men would love that and would launch eagerly and zestfully and morally into an account of what had "happened." But this man was not the type who enjoys talking, and he was getting to a point where he really believed he hated his wife. He was a victim of the same trend as a certain man whose sweetheart very foolishly asked him one night whether he loved her. He requested her to please not be so banal. The girl had loved him for four long years, had overlooked all sorts of faults and shortcomings. But that was the end of her love. And the man to this day can not understand it. He argues that it was banal for her to ask such a question as he had declared his love in unmistakable fashion. And to him it was "idiotic" of her to put the question. The girl intelligent enough to be curious, attractive enough to be sought, has put the same question to several men since, for the sole purpose of ascertaining who was at fault and how other men would react to such a situation! And she states that invariably the man was overjoyed and demonstrated considerable enthusiasm in making his answer convincing. Evidently the first man was out of tune with his environment, and not worthy of the concern the girl evinced. So with the husband who resents his wife's interest and evidences no interest in his wife. He is not big enough for the position in which he finds himself. You have such a husband. He will be more agreeable when gracefully, but not pointedly, ignored. Just make him secondary. Let something else come first. That is all that he needs. And you need, and need badly something more than such a man can give. So act promptly. You will get results.

Kotex keeps one comfortable and well-groomed—because it protects in every way.

YOU feel truly immaculate, dainty, well dressed, when Kotex is your sanitary protection. For one thing, it deodorizes, and every woman knows the importance of that feature in sanitary pads. Then, too, it is shaped so as to be inconspicuous under the close-fitting frocks so popular today. It does not bulge or twist. It's just the right width and the right length.

And Kotex is so soft

The softness and lasting comfort of Kotex are so important. You will appreciate its quick, thorough absorbency. Kotex absorbs so completely because of its filler which is made in many air-cooled layers. This filler, known as Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding, is a cellulose substance which for sanitary purposes performs the very same functions as the softest cotton with five times the efficiency.

Over 85% of our leading hospitals now use this remarkable absorbent. Doctors use it in operating rooms. Nurses use it.

Among smart women the use of Kotex is accepted without question today. It gives the freedom and poise that never were possible with old-fashioned methods. Remember Kotex is easily disposable. This feature alone is so important that it changed the sanitary habits of millions of women. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER — The Main Event

. . . and the Telephone does the rest—

Every household has a lot of purchases to make that have been put off just because they weren't thought of at the right minute. Vita-Minutes reminders get action.

Merchants sell more things to you by reminding you than by telling you. That's true all the way from tooth-paste to electric ironers; because while the tooth-paste purchase may have been neglected because it slipped your mind, the other waits a decision—and that decision will surely be made if you are reminded often enough to "keep it on your mind."

But there are certain times when reminders are most effective. Salesmen know it—and no good salesman would try to remind you of his goods, and get your attention, while you were in the midst of a bridge game, say, or busy with something you wanted to finish. He'd rather catch you while you're in a receptive mood; and when you are fresh and rested; and when a decision made would stick.

Well, the salesman isn't apt to get to you at the one best time of day to fulfill those conditions—because that would be early morning, when neither you nor anybody else is receiving salesmen. But you see the advertisements in the morning Post, all right; and the merchant knows it.

Those minutes of the morning hours have a something that other minutes of the day don't have. You're fresh and rested, yes; and partly on that account your mind has a sparkle, a willingness to consider questions and make decisions, which isn't there at all when once you've gotten into the day's routine. That difference between early-morning minutes and other minutes can be indicated by saying that morning minutes are Vita-Minutes—vitalized by a night's sleep, and the way they look forward into a day instead of back at one.

So Vita-Minutes reminders have a way of getting a thing done the same day—a way that merchants appreciate. It's quite possible that there are, this morning, people who have been forgetting the tooth-paste supply, or just putting off having the ironer sent out for trial, who will be telephoning about it in the next few minutes—reminded by an ad in the paper you're reading.

One reason why The Post is such a powerful and valued merchandising medium is that it is delivered into welcoming homes during the Vita-Minutes of every morning. Given the right sort of reminder in a Post ad—and the telephone does the rest.

Marrying Complainant, Prisoner Escapes Jail

Freehold, N. J., May 13 (A.P.).—A man went from jail to the altar today as the complaining witness decided to marry him instead of testifying against him.

Frank Popick, 24, of Englishtown, arrested on complaint of Miss Stephenia Perde, 20, who said he forged her name to a check, was in jail awaiting grand jury action in the forgery case and another in which he was accused of theft of an automobile. When the girl decided to marry him, the man whose auto was stolen withdrew his charges, the judge issued an order for Popick's release, a deputy sheriff acted as best man, and the recorder performed the ceremony.

$50,000 Damage Suit Follows Alleged Crash

John Clyde Weaver, of 1107 Seventh street northeast, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Washington Railway & Electric Co., seeking to recover $50,000 damages for injuries said to have been suffered in a street car-automobile crash.

Weaver, through Attorneys C. Chester Caywood and Daniel Partridge 3d, tells the court that on November 12 last his automobile was struck by one of the defendant's street cars. He alleges that he suffered permanent injuries and that he has had to undergo an expensive operation. Negligence on the part of the operators of the street car is alleged.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

As the time draws near for going to the seashore, the title of the play at the National, "Salt Water," proves to be quite intriguing. Better than that, the play has within its vitals a wholesome element of comedy all too seldom seen on the stage—and it is for this reason, perhaps, that audiences enjoy all this rollicking fun. Where to get play material? Right out of life. Johnny Horner, in the play, wants to follow the footsteps of his forebears—on the rolling decks of sea-going vessels. Instead, he is the candy-butcher on an Albany night boat. From there on the comedy gets under way; and what happens is just a lot of hilariousness.

* * * *

It had to come; a satire on the South, and on the so-called Southern colonel. Richard Bennett does it in Lawton Campbell's new play, "Solid South," now playing in Detroit and on the way to Chicago before a fall session on Broadway. The mint julep belt comes in for a good lacing, according to William McDermott, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who says: "The effect of the play, in general, is as if the author had taken occasion to deliver himself of an unseemly raspberry just as the band struck up 'Dixie.' With what must be Yankee impudence he twitches the whiskers of a gentleman of the old South—'the South, sir, by gad, the deep, solid, unpolluted South.' He lays a mocking hand on Southern chivalry, Southern traditions, Southern manners; he melts the radiance from the Southern moon and, what is more heinously unforgivable, he is not completely respectful to Southern womanhood. Here, surely, is a strange visitor in our humdrum theater." What is more, here is something that had better shy away from the South.

* * * *

Lew Leslie, who brought his "Blackbirds" to the National Theater earlier in the season and who is now the master of "The International Revue," has captured Frances Williams as one of his star entertainers. This is the same Frances Williams who was here just a few weeks ago at Poli's in the last edition of Mr. George White's "Scandals." It wasn't generally known that "Scandals" folded and closed after that performance, the road not being what it used to be.

* * * *

Also of interest to local theatergoers is the fact that Roger Pryor, erstwhile leading man of the National Theater Players, is making quite a hit for himself as the backward hero in "Apron Strings," a title that really tells the story of the play gradually taking on in New York. Mr. Pryor is the son of Arthur Pryor, leader of his own band and once solo trombonist with the United States Marine Band here in Washington.

* * * *

Tomorrow afternoon in the National Theater the stage will be given over to Ruth St. Denis and her Denishawn dancers—their first time here in a month of Sundays. They bring with them, too, according to Mr. T. Arthur Smith, dances representative of the art in all parts of the world.

KIDNAPING ECLIPSED BY ST. LOUIS RACKET

Bookmakers and Gamblers Get Letters Demanding "Dues" Up to $20,000.

PAY OR BE ELIMINATED

St. Louis, May 13 (A.P.).—Styles have changed in the extortion racket in St. Louis and nearby cities.

Whereas a few days ago kidnapings were the rage, now the newest thing is the "Lawbreakers' Protective Association" and bookmakers and gamblers of the St. Louis area have received letters from the organization demanding "dues" in sums ranging up to $20,000.

The letters signed "Red Terror" say the association is being extended to all principal cities and warn the recipients they must meet the demands or face "elimination."

Two of the letters were received by Tom Kearney, betting commissioner, and D. D. Murphy, showman. Kearney, who made public his letter despite a warning to the contrary, declares he does not intend to comply.

Kidnapings Since Christmas.

The newest form of extortion follows a profitable five months of kidnapings, which, according to police, have netted the abductors approximately $150,000. Nine persons have been kidnaped and held for ransom since the latter part of December.

Shortly after Christmas, Harry King, of Newport, Ill., proprietor of a policy game, was abducted and held for ransom That was the start of the series of kidnapings. King was released when his friends paid $28,000 ransom. Adam C. Fritz, wealthy gambler and proprietor of handbook establishments, was the next victim. He was abducted early in January, and this time the kidnapers realized $35,000.

Taking them one at a time, the abductors late in January captured Mark Gumperts, roadhouse proprietor, and Harry (Brassie) McDonald, proprietor of a bokmaking establishment. Although the two deny they were kidnaped, it was reliably reported it cost $20,000 each to get them freed.

The fifth victim was Jesse Ruebling, reported gambler, who was taken from a taxicab by a trio of masked men. After being held two days he was released February 12 upon payment of $10,000.

Victims Keep Silence.

The boldest of the kidnapings came a few days later. Five men held up and robbed twenty persons at the headquarters of the Mississippi Valley Showmens Association and kidnaped Jacob Hoffman, a bookmaker. After being held 64 hours, Hoffman was rescued by policemen in a house near the city.

Shortly afterward Charles W. Pershall, grocer and banker, of Granite City, Ill., was abducted. It cost Pershall's family 140,000 in ransom.

Late in March Charles Conley, Alton, Ill., bookmaker, was taken from his poolroom. He was released, however, without payment of any money. The last kidnaping involved Jacob Godlove, St. Louis merchant, but he too, was freed without ransom, after being held 48 hours.

St. Louis police have been baffled by the kidnapings because of the reluctance of the victims to give details.

Former Royal Yacht Goes To Its Doom as Rum Craft

Penelope of Edward VII, Cleopatra of Bernhardt, Sapphire of Millionaire, and Veteran of Two Wars, Goes to Breakers as the Yankton.

Boston, May 13 (A.P.).—Freighted with romance her last cargo, the Yankton was towed across the harbor today to the ship breakers.

Once the private yacht of a British king, once the floating palace of the most famous actress, later a gunboat of her adopted country, and more recently a stealthy rumrunner, the rust-eaten hulk bore little resemblance to the days when youth and beauty and courage trod her decks.

The Yankton was built at Leith, Scotland, in 1893, of 544 tons registry and christened the Penelope. For her time her master was Edward VII of England. There the young prince entertained Britain's fairest and bravest.

As Sarah Bernhardt's, the yacht became the Cleopatra. The Divine Sarah saw to that, and perhaps the craft furnished inspiration for her stage role of Queen of the Nile.

An American millionaire acquired the yacht, and again, defying maritime superstition, changed her name. To him she was the Sapphire.

When Spain and the United States went to war the yacht entered the Government service as the gunboat Yankton, the name she carries to the scrap heap. All the social graces fled as guns were mounted on her decks and she was stripped down to fighting trim. At Santiago Harbor she spoke her piece to the dons.

When Admiral "Fighting Bob" Evans took the Atlantir squadron around the globe in 1907 the Yankton led the procession as a dispatch boat. The World War found her still in commission, detailed first to Cuban waters to protect American commerce, then on patrol duty off the New England Coast and later to anti-submarine patrol in the waters near Gibraltar. In 1921 the Yankton was honorably discharged from governmental service with at least one submarine to her credit.

And then the vessel with her honorable past became an outlaw. She was seized as a rumrunner. After litigation had been disposed of the Yankton for a brief period engaged in honest commerce, but since 1925 she rested, a disused hulk, at a local boat yard.

Williams Does New Stunt On Eve of Quitting Service

Noted Naval Flier Performs Inverted Falling Leaf High in Air Over Anacostia Station; Resignation Is Effective Tomorrow.

(Associated Press.)

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, noted naval aviator, has said his farewell to the service with a new maneuver—the lone remaining feat, he says, not previously accomplished by aviation. It is called an "inverted falling leaf."

Two days before his resignation from the Navy goes into effect, spectators were privileged yesterday to reveal a flight they witnessed Saturday in which the maneuver was demonstrated.

Performing high in the air, Williams fluttered toward the earth, the landing gear of the plane on top and himself hanging downward with only his safety belt holding him to the craft.

He topped the plane from side to side, checking it just short of the point at which it would fall into a deadly spin and zig-zagged downward like a playing card dropped from a skyscraper.

The maneuver, he explained, has no military use, but is of value to aviators in inverted flight to teach them when and how to avoid spinning if their craft begins tipping from side to side.

Williams worked out the method at home with small models, studying the characteristics of the minature planes in the novel maneuver and calculating how he could manipulate the controls.

In the actual flying demonstration he used a Curtiss Hawk, a single seat biplane with special equipment in the gasoline and oil tanks to permit inverted flight. The greater part of the 45 minutes he was in the air, he flew upside down. At one time he twice encircled the Naval Air Station, Anacostia, nad adjacent Bolling Field in the inverted position.

The maneuver brought to conclusion a series of inverted flight tests in which the aviator determined for the Navy the proper handling of controls to avoid spins nad stem a mounting loss of life. Newer performances of aircraft, he said, can noly follow when airplanes have more power.

By aid of recording instruments in a standard fighting plane, he obtained for the aeronautical world the first definite load factors for all forms of inverted flights, including the outside loop, inverted loop, inverted tail spin, vertical figure "S," and their application to single seat combat tactics.

His services were volunteered for the hazardous tests and in recognition of his feats he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

His resignation will become effective tomorrow, when he leaves the Navy after 13 years of service "to spnosor a speed program that will bring back to the United States the world's airplane speed record."

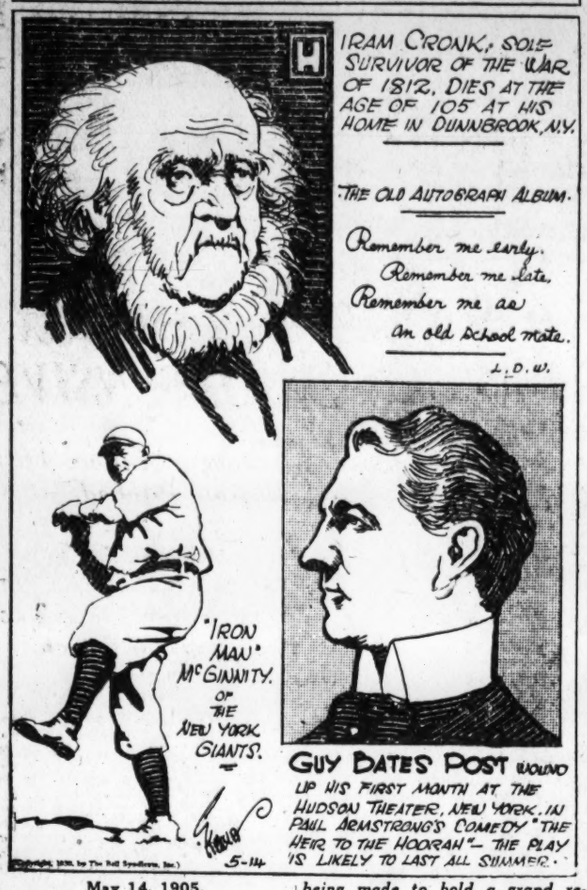
25 YEARS AGO TODAY



May 14, 1905.

The Russian fleet invaded Japanese waters today. This is believed to be the turning point in the present war.

Commissioner Macfarland welcomed the veterans of the Blue and Gray as they gathered in Washington for a two-day social and nonpolitical ralley. Plans are being made to hold a grand reunion and review in Washington in 1906.

Nan Patterson was freed today. She is on her way here to Washington where she will see her mother and relatives.

The Chicago teamster strike is nearing an end, was announced today.

How to Keep Well

DEPARTMENT STORE HEALTH.

THE modern city department store has become a merchandise mart of great complexity and is, therefore, a source of health or ill health to a great number of employes and customers. Recognizing this, the New York City health department picked out 25 typical stores employing 41,000 people, and made a study of them from the health standpoint.

They found, for one thing, that they are more than stores. Several pages of the American Journal of Public Health were required simply to enumerate the activities of department stores. They listed 53 manufacturing, repairing and altering activities carried on in the store building or on the premises. This, in addition to selling and all the rest of the string. Some of these manufacturing processes are responsible for health hazards.

A part of the study was an analysis of 1,225 health and safety rcommendations made to these 25 stores. The most frequent defect complained of was lack of sanitary drinking cups and glasses. Recommendations for greater cleanliness of some fixture ranked second. Safety rpairs, third.

Then came, in order: Proper locker system running soap control of fumes dust, ventilation, cleanliness of . isles and floors, proper towel supply, control of machine noises, proper seats, and better quality of lighting. The other subjects covered by the recommendations averaged less than one for each store, a level below which is is not necessary to go.

In the matter of health and comfort services the stores made very good showings. All of the 25 had restrooms and first aid rooms. Twenty of the number required that food handlers be examined for evidence of transmissable disease. Fifteen had training schools; ten continuation schools; six had libraries; seven, store bulletins or magazines; fourteen employed nurses, and a similar number had medical and surgical equipment. Eleven had physicians in attendance, four had dentists, one had a nose and throat specialist, two had eye specialists, one had a psychiatrist, seven had chiropodists, and six were served by specialists or clinics located elsewhere than in the store. Twelve treated employes only, and twelve treated customers. Nine had health examinations on beginning work and one had periodic health examinations of employes. Twelve had sick and death benefits and one had a pension system.

In some cities the department stores have for many years required vaccination against smallpox as a condition of employment.

MILK AND ORANGE JUICE.

B. F. Writes:

1. I wish you would tell me what is the cause of nervous headaches.

2. How could I manage to drink orange juice for breakfast and still keep milk on my menu. I have heard they do not go well together.

REPLY.

1. Indulgence in emotional drunks

2. Somebody has been deceiving you. Milk mixed with orange juice is the favorite food of infants. Adults combine them, of course.

INDIANS HAMMER OUT 11-TO-6 VICTORY OVER NATS

7 U.S. Women Still in Play For Title

Five Americans Bow in British Golf Tourney.

Miss Collett Faces Big Test Today in Miss Molly Gourlay.

By FRANK H. KING.

FORMBY, England, May 13 (A.P.).—The big field in the British women's golf championship tonight was reduced to 32, with 7 Americans among them. Five visitors from overseas fell today, but the invaders still were without major casualties as they enter fourth round tomorrow morning.

There was conceded a good chance for the Americans to place six in the last sixteen, and some close observers saw a possible last eight made up of four Americans and four British players.

Two rounds will be played tomorrow, and when the day's play is done the quarter finalists will emerge.

Hoeks, Orcutt and Quier Double Winners.

Glenna Collett, Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. Leo Federman and Mrs. Stewart Hanley had to win only a match each today, but Helen Hicks, Maureen Orcutt and Edith Quier had to surmount two obstacles to fight their way to the fourth round.

The five Americans defeated were Mrs. O. S. Hill, who won her second round match but lost in the next, and Miss Louise Fordyce, Miss Fritzi Stifel, Miss Peggy Wattles and Mrs. E. F. Lenihan, eliminated in the second round.

Tomorrow brings the serious stage of the championship. If the hopes of the Americans are running high, so are the expectations of the home guard, for only one leading British player has been eliminated, Miss Doris Chambers, former champion, defeated by Miss Helen Hicks yesterday.

Hard Matches Forecast For Today.

The only other champion competing, Mrs. Temple Dobell, the former Gladys Ravenscroft, was beaten today by Miss Beryl Brown, but she no longer considers herself a serious title contender.

Hard matches are forecast for tomorrow, both morning and afternoon. One of the first serious international clashes arrays Miss Collett against Miss Molly Gourlay, English native champion and conqueror of the American champion in the informal matches at Sunningdale early this month.

It seems certain that either Miss Collett or Miss Gourlay will go through the first quarter of the draw.

Results of matches in which Americans figured:

Miss Helen Hicks, New York, defeated Miss Barbara Law, 7 up and 5 to play, in the second round and won from Mrs. J. A. Hardicker, 7 and 5, in the third round.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., defeated Mrs. A. N. Holm, 3 up and 2 to play, in the second round and won from Miss Betty Slade, 8 and 4, in the third.

Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., defeated Mrs. H. C. Sturgess-Wel, 2 up and 1 to play, in the second round and won from Mrs. F. Cautley, 3 and 2, in the third.

Miss Glenna Collett, New York, defeated Miss Mary Beard, 4 up and 2 to play, in the third round.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, defeated Miss Marjorie Juta, 5 up and 4 to play, in the third round.

Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, defeated Mrs. B. B. Walker, 2 up and 1 to play, in the third round.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, defeated Miss Doris Park, 1 up in the third round.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, defeated Miss A. C. Johnston, 4 up and 2 to play, in the second round but was eliminated by Miss G. E. C. Rudgard, 5 and 4, in the third round.

Miss Louis Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, was defeated by Miss Marjorie Howel, 1 up, in the second round.

Miss Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, N. Y., was defeated by Miss Diana Fishwick, 7 up and 5 to play, in the second round.

Miss Fritzi Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va., was defeated by Mrs. Walter Payne, 4 up and 2 to play, in the second round.

Mrs. E. F. Lenihan, Pasadena, Calif., was defeated by Miss Kathleen Garnham, 2 up and 1 to play, in the second round.

FOURTH ROUND PAIRINGS OF AMERICANS.

Miss Glenna Collett vs. Miss Molly Gourlay.

Mrs. Leo Federman vs. Mrs. Dudley Charles.

Miss Helen Hicks vs. Mrs. Percy Garon.

Miss Maureen Orcutt vs. Miss G. E. C. Rudgard.

Miss Edith Quier vs. Miss Daisy Ferguson.

Miss Virginia Van Wie vs. Miss Kathleen Macondla.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley vs. Dr. Marion Alexander.

Blaeholder Accepts Browns' 1930 Terms

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—George Blaeholder, holdout pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, finally has signed his 1930 contract and has been reinstated to good standing. Blaeholder signed in St. Louis three days ago but did not join the team until last night when it reached here from Boston. The terms of the contract were not announced.

Manager Bill Killefer denied the persistent reports that Blaeholder might still figure in a trade, and said that the pitcher would not start a game for at least five days more.

Cagle Admits Marriage, Resigns

West Point Requests Act on Learning of 1928 Wedding.

Violated Strict Rule of Academy; Blow to Army Pride.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 13 (A.P.). — Christian Keener (Red) Cagle resigned abruptly as a cadet today from the United States Military Academy, by official request, following the revelation that he was married nearly two years ago in direct violation of the cadet regulations, subsequently gaining all-American gridiron honors and distinction as one of the greatest Army half backs of all time.

Thus, in the swirling succession of events that within the past few days have beset the famous redhead like a flock of Stanford or Notre Dame tacklers, romance has brought a sudden finish to Cagle's military career.

Much as today's developments shocked official West Point and those who hold Army regulations in high respect, drama continued to surround the exciting career of Cagle. From a hospital bed, where he was recovering from an operation for the removal of his tonsils, the Army star handed in his resignation after being advised that press dispatches from New Orleans had disclosed the details of his marriage on August 25, 1928, to Marion Munford Haile, at Gretna, La., by a justice of the peace.

Bride Stops at Atlanta, Denying Marriage.

On her way to New York, Cagle's bride of nearly two years stopped in Atlanta to deny they were married, apparently in the hope that the concealment might be maintained. However, at about the same time her husband was admitting the marriage to Col. M. A. Shockley, post surgeon at West Point.

Now, his resignation on the way to Washington for formal acceptance, Cagle will leave West Point just a month before the date on which he was to have been graduated as one of the most distinguished members of his class.

He had planned to resign anyway because of the acceptance of a contract to coach football at Mississippi A. & M. College and also to enter the bond selling business in New Orleans, but he is now deprived of the honor of finishing his course and gaining an officer's commission.

Refuses to Make Statement.

Cagle refused to make any statement beyond signing the certificate he had been married and then handing in his resignation at the request of the commandant, Maj. Gen. William R. Smith. He left the hospital this afternoon. Although still somewhat weak from his operation, he planned to leave West Point tomorrow morning in time to meet his bride on her arrival in New York.

Gen. Smith and other officers likewise declined to make any comment beyond the bare statement of official facts, although they made no effort to conceal the chagrin with which they regarded the episodes marking the end of the military career of one of West Point's most conspicuous and highly regarded athletes.

It was only a few weeks ago that official machinery had been set in motion to have Cagle return to the scenes of his gridiron game as an assistant Army coach. In his place now will come his former teammate, Lieut. Harry Wilson, of the flying service, costar with Cagle on the West Point teams of 1926 and 1927.

Cagle violated one of the strictest

Moore's appearance on the mound for the Nats during the Indian's rally in the third inning was marked by a wild heave into dirt that eluded Ruel and permitted Luke Sewell to advance from first to third. The Indians' catcher is seen sliding safely into the bag ahead of Ruel's throw to Bluege.

VON ELM AND VOIGT PAIR ABROAD

Mackenzie and Moe Will Be Partners Against British.

SANDWICH, England, May 13 (A.P.).—Pairings of the American Walker Cup Team for the foursomes against the British team Thursday were announced tonight. George Von Elm and George Voigt will be partners. Donald Moe and Roland Mackenzie will be paired; Robert T. Jones, jr., and Dr C. F. Willing will play together, and Harrison R. Johnson will play with Francis Ouimet.

Announcement of the British pairings was not expected until tomorrow, but it was regarded as likely that William Campbell and J. A. Lang would pair with the other probable partnerships, including Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout, Robert Harris and T. A. Torrange, Roger Wethered and Cyril J. H. Tolley.

The members of the American Walker Cup Team today continued to improve their game over the treacherous St. George's course. Interest was increased by the arrival of the massive Walker Cup itself, Douglas Fairbanks, who considers himself Bobby Jones' mascot, and Jock MacIntyre, Jones' Scotch caddy.

Roland Mackenzie's play has shown the most improvement of that of any of the Americans. He played eighteen holes this morning with a score of 74, two less than the number Jones needed to negotiate the same distance. Jones and Mackenzie won a hard-fought four-ball match from George Von Elm and George Voigt.

This afternoon Jones and Dr. C. F. Willing played a four-ball match against Francis Ouimet and Harrison R. Johnston, Jones and Willing winning 3 and 2.

New York to Grant License to Schmeling

New York, May 13 (A.P.))—The New York State Athletic Commission agreed today to grant Max Schmeling a license on condition he consent to fight for Madison Square Garden within one year, if victorious over Jack Sharkey at the Milk Fund show on June 12.

Reversing itself, the solons also provided Arthur Buelow, Schmeling's official manager, a chance to obtain 20 per cent of the gate receipts for the prospective second bout, if he can recover that amount in court action.

Sharkey had already agreed to box for the Garden within one year, if he wins the title.

Al Friedman, Injured, Cancels Walker Bout

Boston, May 13 (A.P.).—A fractured left wrist will prevent Al Friedman, Boston heavyweight, from going through with his bout with Mickey Walker, middleweight title holder, in Louisville, Ky., on Friday night.

Friedman received the injury here last night during his battle with Joe Monte, Brockton heavyweight.

Nats' Rookies Leading Hitters in 3 Leagues

President Clark Griffith is claiming a record for the Washington Club as a result of the hitting of three of its players on option to minor leagues, all of whom are leading their leagues with the willow.

At New Haven, Alvin (Jake) Powell is topping all Eastern League sluggers with a .469 average, while Catcher Cliff Bolton, at Chattanooga, is high gun of the Southern Association with a mark of .439. The third to jump to the top is Gordon Phelps, hefty catcher, who has been playing in the Hagerstown outfield. In his only three Blue Ridge League games he has leaped to the front with a mark of .786, having cracked out eleven hits, including a homer, three triples and four doubles, in fourteen official trips to the plate.

White, G. U. Southpaw, Trying Out With Nats

Russell (Packy) White, Georgetown University southpaw pitcher, is being given a tryout by Manager Walter Johnson of the Nationals and pitched to batters in the drill before yesterday's game. White, a 6-footer, who is only 20 years of age, is a junior at the Hilltop and was one of the team's mainstays last season. Because of a knee injury received on the basket ball court, he was late starting with the Blue and Gray this season, but finished with a record of three victories as against on defeat, suffering this latter while in a relief role.

"Red" Smith, Georgetown coach, who is working out with the Nationals to get in shape to join the Albany Club of the Eastern Leaue, recommended White to Johnson.

INDIANS KEPT IN RACE BY SLUGGING

Only 6 Pitchers Have Gone Route Since Season Opened.

THE task of keeping the Indian war club silent in this afternoon's second game of the Washington collection of sluggers who make managing a pleasure. His team is leading the league in hitting and practically every member of his cast, including substitutes, has been pounding the ington-Cleveland series will be given to the veteran, "Sad Sam" Jones, with Willis Hudlin probably doing the slab-work for the Peckmen.

By winning yesterday, the Indians cut the Nats' second-place margin to one game and the Johnsons are particularly anxious to stage a comeback today. All they need is one victory in the remaining two with the Tribe to stay in second place.

Cleveland's performances this year resemble those of the Yankees in recent seasons. As a rule they have been getting miserable pitching out they have hit hard enough to more than offset this deficiency. So far this season, the starting pitcher has finished for the Indians only six times, a youngster who answers to the name of Clint Brown having accounted for half of these complete games. Wes Ferrell, despite the fact that he has a record of five victories as against but one defeat, has lasted the route only once, as also has Hudlin in five starts. Not since the waning days of last month when the Browns visited Cleveland has Peck's first pitching guess been right.

Three New Faces Shown By Tribe.

At bat, however, Peck has a colapple to a pulp.

Three new faces were shown by the Tribe to local fans yesterday. At third was John H. Burnett, acquired from the University of Florida and optioned to the New Orleans Club last year, where he hit .311. Jonah Goldman, at short, came from Syracuse during the 1928 season and was farmed out to Decatur that season and to Albany in 1929, where he hit .293 and made a great reputation for himself as a double-play man, participating in no less than 127.

Bob Seeds, the other newcomer, who was in center yesterday, started in 1926 as an infielder with the Enid Club of the Southwestern League, but fielded so poorly and hit so well that he was converted into a fly chaser. He hit .342 with Kansas City last season, being particularly welcome to the Tribe because he is a right-handed hitter.

Cubs Eke Out Victory After Leading Braves

Chicago, May 13 (A.P.).—The Cubs frittered away an eight-run lead today, but managed to squeeze out a 9-to-8 decision over the Boston Braves in the opening game of the series.

Assaults on Ben Cantwell and Cunningham gave the Cubs an 8-to-0 margin at the end of the fourth, but the Braves staged an uprising in the sixth and scored six runs. They added another pair in their half of the eighth, but the National League champions scored the winning run in their part of the inning.

Four home runs were made, including Hack Wilson's ninth of the season. Pat Malone got one for the Cubs before he was driven to cover and Moore and Welsh got one each for the Braves.

Eastern 21-5 Victor Over Central Champions Bombard Lynch for 21 Hits in School Series.

Score in All But One Inning; Tie Business for the Lead.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

LIVING up to its reputation as a slugging team established a week ago in its series debut with Tech, Eastern High's champion baseball nine continued its rout of its interhigh rivals yesterday, when it ran up a 21-to-5 score against Central at the Columbia Heights Stadium. The victory sent Eastern into a tie for the league leadership with Business, both teams having a record of two wins in as many games.

By scoring in every inning except the third, Eastern sent its run total to 44 for two games, having buried Tech under a 23-to-4 count. Although given a scare in the third inning when Central scored four times to come within two of tying the score, Eastern' "battering bambinos" stepped out with three more runs in the fourth and were never again threatened.

Lynch Takes World of Punishment.

If Central had more than one pitcher on its squad, it was never known yesterday. Although pounded for six hits and as many runs in the first two frames, Bob Lynch was left in the box for the Blue and White and continued to be hammered mercilessly by the enemy batters. Only one of the Eastern runs was made without the result of hard, solid socking, when Panetta reached first and traveled all the way home with the aid of Central errors in the fifth.

In again running their score into the twenties, all of the Lincoln Park players took a part in the festival, Ben McCullough, with four hits leading the attack. Although getting one hit less, McAboy outshone his mate in one respect, banging out a double and a homer in addition to a single. Dick Lanahan also continued to show his own personal contempt of the saying, "Pitchers can't hit," by socking two hard singles.

Fielding features of the game were few and far between, but a catch by Charlie Millar, substitute outfielder, who was inserted into the game in the last inning, was outstanding. Backing up against the right field wall, Millar leaned backward to snag Al Miller's ball just as it was passing over the barrier, for the last out of the game.

Cumberland Makes 2 Errors In Debut.

Two Central veterans, Capt. George Brandt and Frank Cumberland, made their debut of the season, but although the former handled himself well in his seven chances, Cumberland muffed two easy plays.

McAboy gave the Lincoln Parkers a one-run lead in the very first inning when his hard hit ball bounded

UNCLE LUTHER WINS, NED O SECOND, IN DERBY TRIAL

Nine Eligibles Compete in Mud

Stivers' Colt Easy Winner in 1:41 4-5 in Mile Test.

Bradley's Breezing Through Surprises by Fast Work.

By J. B. SNODGRASS
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Ky., May 13. The Derby trial, with nine Derby candidates starting, at a mile, was won easily by L. Stivers' Uncle Luther on a sloppy track, run as the fifth race here today.

G. W. Foreman's Ned O, the Maryland horse, was second, and Hal Price Headley's Dark Entry was third. Ned O was away well, but could not withstand the challenge of Uncle Luther by King Gorin—Day Dream. The time was 1:41 4-5.

Under partial restraint in the early running, Uncle Luther improved his position and came to the front on the outside. Ned O was the lone contender, holding the lead for 2 furlongs. The latter, a strong choice in the betting, appeared to be poorly ridden. He was used up before reaching the stretch, although easily best of the remainder of the field, leading Dark Entry by ten lengths. Uncle Luther won easily by a length and a half and paid $12.62 for $2 win mutuel.

Breezing Through Fast In Workout.

E. R. Bradley's Breezing Through, one of the two Derby candidates of the Master of Idlehour Farm, caused a sensation as the crowd was gathering in the rain for the day's racing by a workout for the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:11 4-5.

The track was sloppy after several hours' rain, and no visitor to Churchill Downs was thinking about a serious workout, when the Bradley colt came on the track, with Legere up, and full Derby weight of 126 pounds, and the clockers caught him in the following fractional time of 0:27, 0:54, 120, 1:33, 1:46, 1:59, 2:11 4-5.

Breezing Through is by North Star III out of Lamome. North Star III also sired Bubbling Over, which was an easy Derby winner over Pompey. The other colt Bradley will start in the Derby is Buckeye Poet, until today believed to be the stronger of the Bradley pair. The workout will popularize this entry, and it is remembered that in his two Derby winnings Bradley has run one, two.

Gallant Fox Elicits Praise.

Gallant Fox came in for a good deal of praise on the strength of his appearance, but the local men were not long in commenting on his only weakness—the fact that he is a little light in the quarters where a route horse generally has plenty of beef. But his trimness and general demeanor were very pleasing to his admirers. The Preakness winner was slightly nervous because of his strange surroundings, but circled the track twice.

Crack Brigade was well thought of, too, and in certain points of conformation has somewhat the advantage of the Belair color bearer. Gone Away and Ned O received a good deal less attention than the others, and the former seems sure to be very much of an outsider despite the fact that he looks to have as good a chance as anything on the basis of his 2-year-old form.

OVERBOARD followed ANTEBELLUM close for three furlongs, took the lead when urged and, continuing well, had something left at end. FIDDLER ran away a sixteenth before the start, then broke well and, although holding on gamely through stretch, could not menace the winner. ANTEBELLUM displayed speed, but was tiring badly in the drive. STAR PLAY went evenly and held on well through the stretch. FAIR ROSALIND lost ground on both turns.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MISS CHILLA, $6.80, $3.78, $3.00; OUTBURST, $6.90, $4.78; HIGH TEMPER, $6.94.

MISS CHILLA took a small lead, drew out midway of stretch, but tired and just managed to hold OUTBURST safe. Latter, forced slightly wide first part of it, closed strongly when straightened out and would have won in another stride. HIGH TEMPER, forward from the start, closed stoutly last furlong, but could not reach leaders. CAZANOVA moved up dangerously on inside last eighth, but was tiring in the final drive. REST EASY was in close quarters most of trip.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCESS DONNA, $22.94, $9.12, $6.30; FIRE UNDER, $22.46, $13.12; PURPLE SAND, $4.94.

PRINCESS DONNA, away fast, saved ground and opened up a good gap on back stretch, responded gamely when threatened at head of stretch and, continuing better than usual held opposition safe. FIRE UNDER, outrun first part of it, slipped through on inside all through stretch and, gaining rapidly near end, outfinished PURPLE SAND. Latter, always well up, had no excuses and was tiring badly near the end. GOODMAN showed a good effort after suffering from some early interference. BRUNO weakened after showing good speed to the main stretch. BOGAN ran as if he disliked the going.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. The Pewee Valley. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:37. Off at 3:38. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CLUB HOUSE, $9.82, $5.78, $3.40; STAR LASSIE, $4.66, $2.82; HOT SHOT, $2.56.

CLUB HOUSE, away well and close behind the pace, passed HOT SHOT when ready and drew out decisively under light urging. STAR LASSIE worked way up on outside, came with a belated rush in last sixteenth and was going strongly at the end. HOT SHOT had usual early speed and weakened badly when under pressure. MR. DICK went well, but could not threaten the leaders. JEAN VALJEAN lost rider at start when crowded to inner rail.

UNCLE LUTHER steadily improved position on outside under restraint, took command and, after punishing far turn and, drawing far out, was being eased up at end. NED O., away fast, but poorly handled, was kept in close quarters first half and, upon racing clear, had nothing left when challenged, but easily held others safe. DARK ENTRY was crowded back in early stages raced around field to hold third place. BROADWAY LIMITED, fast leaving PLAY TIME showed early speed, then weakened.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HARRY KUHNS, $5.92, $3.60, $3.02; FLYING CHEROKEE, $29.16, $11.50; LIBERTY ACE, $4.32.

HARRY KUHNS, away well, but forced to race around entire field, soon opened up a good lead and, increasing through stretch, won as rider pleased. FLYING CHEROKEE, steadily rounding clear, closed strong ground on inside, but weakening near end, just lasted to outstay LIBERTY ACE. Latter, well up behind the winner first part of it, came again near end when seemingly tiring midway of the stretch. FUDGE closed resolutely after suffering from crowding spon after start.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:08. Off at 5:09½. Winner F. Brant's br. c. EIL WEIR alternated in the pacemaking with SANDY SHORE in first half mile, finally disposed of latter and, saving ground through stretch, had enough left to hold final challenge of RUANE safe. Latter, probably best, was allowed to race far back first three-quarters, came to extreme outside all through stretch, then finished with a rush. TEA CRACKER, RUANE safe. Latter, probably best, was allowed to race far back first three-quarters, came to extreme outside all through stretch, then finished with a rush. TEA CRACKER, stretch and could not reach contention thereafter. SANDY SHORE raced extremely wide on first two turns, then quit after reaching main stretch.

THIRTY-FOUR games involving 78 teams comprise the extensive schedule for the Capital City League, sponsored by The Washington Post, this week-end. MRS. RHYNE'S CARD TOPS WOMEN

Wins Star Cup With Net 159, Topping Mrs. Engle.

MRS. J. O. RHYNE, of the Bannockburn Club, yesterday won the Star Cup in a 36-hole, medal play, handicap event on the course of the Indian Spring Club, with a gross score of 191, less 32, or a net card of 159. She was one stroke better than Mrs. Ora Emge, Beaver Dam, who at the beginning of the second round yesterday had a lead of three strokes over the field.

Mrs. Emge's total score was 190 for the 36 holes, but her handicap was 30—15 for each eighteen holes. Her undoing was the second round yesterday when she started with two 6s and a 7, followed by a 6 and a 7 on the fifteenth and the sixteenth holes. These lapses in her round were fatal.

Mrs. John Neale Hodges, of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Club, and the Middle Atlantic champion, who last year won the trophy with the lowest net score, yesterday won the prize for low gross. Her 87 on the first day was followed yesterday by a fine 82 for a total of 169, Mrs. Betty Meckley, Beaver Dam, finishing as runner-up with 88—84—172. Mrs. J. M. CHEVY CHASE PLAY OPENS TODAY

First Pair of 240 in Golf Tourney Tee Off at 7:25 A.M.

THE Chevy Chase Club invitation golf tournament will begin this morning with the first pair starting at 7:25 o'clock and the last pair teeing off at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Altogether there are approximately 240 entries, and the problem will be to hustle them around the course in a qualifying round of eighteen holes and finish before dark. However, the golf committee believes that this can be accomplished by sending off the pairs at 4-minute intervals. Four sixteens will qualify, and fully 170 of the players will be outside the breastworks when the final scores are in.

Even those who qualify will have to play the game of their lives for the course is dry and fast, and low scoring is certain to result. On the other hand, the course, although it is figured at 6,505 yards on the card, has been lengthened fully 50 yards by setting back the tees on the sixth, twelfth, thirteenth and other holes.

Driving Tees Are Moved Back.

The red tees will be used and will be set well back, making the holes longer than usual. The first hole, for instance, which is credited with 396 yards, looks as if a mile intervened between the tee and the green, and with an adverse wind will be a hard par 4.

The course was crowded yesterday with contestants playing practice rounds. Among them were some ten or twelve Canadian golfers, who, as usual, have come down from Toronto to participate in the event.

Tenth Conference Win For V. P. I. as Va. Bows

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., May 13.—Virginia Polytechnic Institute Baseball Team secured its claim to the Tri-State League championship with a 4-to-2 victory over Virginia here today. Lloyd Murden held the Cavaliers to five scattered bingles and, but for an error, would have shut them out. This was the tenth Southern Conference win for the Gobblers.

With the bases full in the sixth, Hooper let a roller from Lewis' bat go through his legs to hand two tallies to Virginia.

The Marines scored one run on three singles in the second; their two runs in the sixth came as a result of Young's single, two outs, Lusignan's double and Smith's hit to right on which Williams and Saunders collided, causing Saunders to drop the ball.

The Cadets scored twice in the seventh on Saunders' single, Tolan's miscue and Langhorn's triple. Cy Young scored the fourth run for the home team in the eighth with a home run.

POOLS SEND STOCKS RISING AS SALES SAG

Gains of 2 to 21 Points Are Made by Many Shares in Several Groups.

OIL ISSUES HEAD RALLY

New York, May 13 (A.P.).—Pool operators took the long side of a dull stock market today and succeeded in marking up a goodly number of shares. They had the best luck with the oils, but also fared well with the utility, chemical and steel issues, as well as with the usual assortment of responsive specialties. Gains ranged from 2 to 5 points in the active issues.

From the standpoint of volume, however, the market was the quietest since late February. Sales dropped well below the 3,000,000-share mark and in the first half hour totaled only 289,000, an unusually small turnover.

The move in the oils, which carried the group leaders 1 to 5 points higher, appeared to have some support from current developments in the industry. Producers in the Santa Fe Springs (Calif.) Field, with few exceptions, agreed to limit output to 57 per cent of capacity, effective today. There is an increasing expectation that gasoline prices will be advanced in the East as the increasing seasonal traffic reduces supplies. Furthermore, reports from the automobile trade note an improvement in sales since May 1.

Rails Unusually Apathetic.

Activity in the petroleum stocks began shortly before noon just as the market was giving signs of almost complete stagnation. As the move gained strength other groups were pulled into line, although the trading retained its professional character and embraced only a few prominent issues in each of the divisions affected. Rails were unusually apathetic; there were no dealings at all in New Haven common and the day's business in Union Pacific amounted to but 100 shares.

In the face of a further reduction in the industry's operations, U. S. Steel and Vanadium were carried along with the rally and closed about 2 points higher. Michigan rose 7. Unofficial advices said that ingot output for the entire industry was shaded below 76 per cent of rated capacity compared with 76½ a week ago and 77½ a fortnight ago. The Steel Corporation's activities were estimated at slightly below 80 per cent against a fraction above that figure last week. A year ago the company was operating just about at capacity.

Columbia Gas & Electric was under substantial accumulation on reports, unconfirmed, that United Corporation was to make an offer of one share of its common and four-fifths of a preferred share for each of Columbia. United already owns a large interest in the utility, but an extension of that interest would be regarded rather as an investment than as a move for control, since the Morgan Holding Co.'s policy is to take only minority positions.

Specialties' Spectacular Rise.

The rise in some of the specialties was spectacular. Vulcan Detinning climbed more than 21 points while the A stock gained 18. J. I. Case rallieddd 18½ net, International Salt 7, Allied Chemical 7½ and General Railway Signal 5¼.

Standard Oil of New Jersey was heavily bought, closing at 80⅞ for a net rise of 4⅜. Standard of California mounted 2¼. Houston Oil 4⅞. Standard of New York 1⅛ and Pan-American B 3⅜, the latter making new high ground.

Loew's advanced 1¾ to a new 1930 peak, featuring the moderate improvement in the amusement group. Radio-Keith-Orpheum gained a point. General Electric, Westinghouse and Radio Corporation recovered most of yesterday's losses.

Commodities were dull. Wheat sagged one-half to a full cent and corn yielded about ¼ cent. Cotton closed steady, with the old crop months generally higher and the new mostly lower. Raw sugar slipped to new low levels, finishing barely steady. Coffee was slightly firmer.

Irregularity marked the foreign currencies. Sterling steadied.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 13 (A.P.).—With North American wheat seeding for 1930 reported as virtually complete and the Canadian spring crop condition almost perfect, wheat values here tended downgrade today. There were also advices that some of the United States new crop of winter wheat would be moving to market inside of three weeks. Moreover, failure of predicted frosts to develop in Kansas and Nebraska gave a black eye at the very outset today to friends of higher prices, and made buying power too small to maintain rallies.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ½ to 1¼c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅜c off to ⅛c up, oats at a shade decline to an equal advance, and provisions varying from 2c setback to a rise of 5c.

Temporary bulges in wheat prices accompanied late estimates that export business in North American wheat totaled 1,000,000 bushels, but the stimulating effect was lost owing at least in some degree to the circumstance that most of the amount taken to go overseas consisted of wheat grown in Canada. Meanwhile unofficial reports were current that 90 per cent of the 1930 Saskatchewan and Alberta spring wheat crop has been seeded and 97 per cent in Manitoba, with the crop condition in Saskatchewan and Alberta unusually high, 95 per cent. Besides, abundant moisture for at least the time being was shown as having been provided throughout practically the entire domestic wheat belt both winter and spring.

Faced by such an array of bearish conditions, bulls in the wheat market here failed to make much headway except at brief intervals, notwithstanding an advance in prices at Liverpool, where crop uncertainties both in Europe and America were being emphasized in connection with the latest general official crop report from the United States. Advices of severe damage by hail in three of the major wheat-producing counties of Oklahoma were also without any permanent market effect. Talk current that some arrangement has been made for shipments of spring wheat by barge from the Northwest to New Orleans for prospective export were likewise given only passing attention.

Corn and oats were relatively firm owing a good deal to wet weather delays to corn planting.

Scattered buying upheld the provision market notwithstanding that hog values had a general downward trend.

RAILS RISE SLIGHTLY IN DULL BOND SALES

Many Oil Issues Advance in Active Trading; Foreign List Proves Firm.

UTILITIES VARY LITTLE

New York, May 12 (A.P.).—The dullness of the past few days in the listed bond market was extended through another day with prices showing little inclination to change.

The market was sluggish after the first hour and the day netted on general improvement. The railroad group, particularly bonds legal for savings banks, showed the greatest firmness and made slight gains. Oil bonds were unusually active and moved forward, in sympathy with the showing of oil stocks.

The volume of sales continued small and reflected the apathy toward the market. The lack of buoyancy has been ascribed to many different factors, among which are the lack of heavy buying by banks and the slowness with which investors have turned from stocks to bonds for long-time investments.

Prime Rail Bonds Firm.

Prime railroad bonds were firm, although the demand was not large. Atchison general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 5s "D," Chicago & Northwestern refunding 5s and St. Paul 5s made good fractional gains. On the down side were Missouri Pacific general 4s, Pennsylvania 4½s. Erie 4s of "96" climbed 1¾ points to establish a new 1930 high at 84.

Bonds in the utilities group moved narrowly. Colorado Gas & Electric 5s equaled the year's high. And General Cables 5½s, Laclede 5½s, Utah Power & Light 5½s and North American Edison 5s advanced. American Telephone issues lost a little ground.

Trading in oil bonds was the most widespread in many days, and many issues gained from ¼ to ½ point. Anglo-Chilean Nitrate 7s with warrants gained 1¾ points to equal the year's high, following the course of the stock. Lautaro Nitrate 6s held steady.

American Telephone 4½s Rise.

Stock privilege issues blew hot and cold during the day. American Telephone 4½s finished strong, a point higher. Pan American Petroleum 6s rose 1¾ points to a new 1930 high. Reading Coal & Iron 6s advanced ¾.

Foreign bonds were firm, although there was considerable irregularity in the less active bonds. Japanese bonds were the most active and were firm as the market absorbed a large block of the new $50,000,000 issue of 5½ bonds which gained ⅛. Western European governments were steady. Argentine and Brazil governments moved upward.

The market for the United States Governments continued unusually dull and prices eased.

The Stock market is again demonstrating the fallacy of the age-old hope of getting something for nothing. Many investors, in the light of the decline last Fall and the more recent one, are in no little uncertainty as to just what policy to pursue.

Some stocks may never recover to their former levels. But likewise many will regain their lost ground and reach new high levels. The investor who holds a group of stocks may hold some of each but he will benefit by averages. The rise in the values of some in the group will offset the decline in others.

The investment policy of participating through group ownership in common stocks of large and growing businesses is logical and sound. Over a period of time it must be effective, if our country is to go forward in the future as in the past.

Corporate Trust Shares represent an ownership through common stocks of a cross-section of basic American industry. Each stock is a dividend payer. Welded together, they form a bulwark of security that is as strong as the financial structure of America itself.

FALLS CHURCH ROAD REPAIRS ARRANGED

State of Virginia to Take Over Maintenance of Lee Highway.

VOTING JUDGES NAMED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Falls Church Town Council and R. I. Mount, resident State highway engineer, have entered into an agreement whereby the State highway department will take over the maintenance of the Lee highway through the town of Falls Church until June 30. Under the present arrangement the State will not spend any more money on the highway than it has done before but instead of paying to the town each quarter of the year the equivalent per mile of the cost of maintaining the 5-mile stretch of road on either side of the corporate limits of the town it will spend the same amount but will use its own materials and its own labor when work is undertaken. After June 30 it is understood that the State Highway Commission is planning to make different arrangements for doing this work.

Representatives for the Rosslyn Gas Co. appeared before the council meeting to make application for a permit to lay gas mains through the town. The company plans to bring the gas out Brown avenue to East Falls Church, running a trunk line along Lee highway across Broad street, first covering only the most congested and central sections of the town, these lines would be extended whenever a sufficient number of householders wished service. The proposed plans call for 6-inch trunk lines with 4-inch laterals. It was stated that the rate in Falls Church would be $1.50 net or $1.60 gross and that a modern high pressure system is contemplated by the company.

Councilman Julius Parmalee and Charles Gage have been appointed by Mayor John F. Bethune to serve with Thomas Probey, town clerk, as judges of the municipal election that will be held June 10. The polls will be open from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until sunset. Mayor Bethune stated he has filed notice with the town clerk that he will be a candidate for reelection.

W. F. Sunderman, who is preparing the plat book for the town, stated that the book is about two-thirds completed at the present time, and that the cost will be approximately $1,000 less than the original estimate. The council authorized the issuing of several building permits. At the request of Samuel H. Styles, the school board was granted immediate use of the $1,000 appropriated for school purposes.

Arrangements have been made with Judge Walter McCarthy, of the Fairfax County Circuit Court, that on the opening day of the court next Monday court will adjourn from 12:30 until 2 o'clock in the afternoon so as to allow candidates for the United States House of Representatives from this district an opportunity to make their campaign speeches. A letter has been received from E. H. DeJarnette, of Orange, a Democratic candidate for the nomination, which states that he will speak at the courthouse at 12:30 o'clock Monday. It is understood that several other Democratic candidates will take advantage of this opportunity.

Stanley Ayers, 20, and John Tyler, 20, of Mount Vernon district, and William Parrigan, 23, of Alexandria, are in the Fairfax Jail, charged with assault and robbery of Robert Smith, of Hybla Valley, Saturday night. It is alleged that they stole a ring and $7 from Smith. The men were arrested yesterday in Alexandria by the Alexandria police and turned over to Fairfax County authorities.

According to Sheriff E. P. Kirby, Smith stated that the three men picked him up in Alexandria in a car. They took him on the River road below the Belle Haven Golf Club just south of Alexandria, where they stopped and told him they wanted to show him something over in the bushes. When they reached a clearing a short distance from the road, he said, all three jumped on him and beat him up, robbing him and leaving him unconscious on the roadside. He was picked up later by a passing motorist and taken to the Alexandria Hospital.

Capital Boys Held In Stealing of Car

Policeman in Silver Spring Has to Fire Shot in Tire Before Auto Halts.

When an automobile driven by two Washington colored youths failed to stop at his command early yesterday, Corpl. D. L. Snyder, of the Silver Spring substation, Montgomery County police, fired a shot into the rear tire of the car bringing it to a stop. The automobile later was identified as a stolen car, police say.

Corpl. Snyder was riding on the Colesville pike near Silver Spring when he saw the car about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The occupants appeared suspicious to him and he turned to follow the car, discovering that the tail light was out. He then attempted to halt the car, but the driver put on speed and attempted to get away, the policeman reported. Corpl. Snyder then fired a shot into the tire.

The youths gave their names as Robert Butler, 19 years old, Fenmont court northwest, and Robert Anderson, Green's court northwest, also 19. They admitted having stolen the car from in front of the home of the owner, Malcolm Gerry, 2201 Fifteenth street northwest, three hours earlier. They were turned over to the Washington police headquarters.

Fire Fails to Halt High School Class

Structure in New Market May Be Replaced by New Building.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., May 13.—High school classes will be resumed at New Market tomorrow in various buildings and private residences pending temporary repairs to the high school building which was damaged by fire of unknown origin last night.

School officials believe that seven of the eight rooms in the frame structure can be used the remaining few weeks of the school term. Only one corner of the building was seriously damaged by the flames. The loss has not yet been estimated. About half of the pupils' books were lost in the blaze and much of the laboratory equipment was damaged.

The Shenandoah County school board has reached no decision as to whether permanently to repair the building or replace it with a new one. There has been considerable local agitation in recent years for a more modern school building.

GOV. POLLARD VISITS WASHINGTON SHRINE

Mount Vernon Regents Pay Honor to Executive and Daughter.

AUTO INSPECTION HELD

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The board of regents of Mount Vernon yesterday entertained Gov. John Garland Pollard and the board of visitors at the annual governor's day observance. Gov. Pollard, accompanied by Miss Suzanne Pollard and the members of the board, arrived from Richmond at noon in the private car of Eppa Hunton, jr., president of the R. F. & P. Railroad, and were met by former Mayor and Mrs. William Albert Smoot, Mr. Smoot being a member of the board of visitors.

At Mount Vernon the governor and the board were greeted by Mrs. Richards, the regent of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, which has been in session there for several days, and the vice regents and all then proceeded to the tomb of Washington, where, after a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Wallis, professor emeritus of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia, the governor placed a wreath on the tomb and Mrs. Richards deposited one on that of Mrs. Washington.

Luncheon was served to the governor's party at the mansion and Gov. Pollard in a short speech, congratulated the regents upon the splendid manner in which they have discharged their duties of supervision of the mansion and grounds. Mr. Hunton spoke on behalf of the board of visitors and Representative R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth Virginia District, also spoke briefly.

After the exercises, the party returned to Alexandria and took an afternoon train for Richmond.

The result of the tests being conducted on automobiles this week under the auspices of the American Automobile Association here have proved a distinct surprise to many car owners who believed that their machines were in perfect order. Of the 130 cars so far undergoing the test, only 24 have passed with a perfect mark on the first trial, although, after having minor adjustments made, the number to pass was increased to 43.

The greatest defect found was in the adjustment of headlights, 80 cars failing to pass this test. Brakes came next, with 56 of the 130 failing. Wheel alignment was found faulty in 8 cases, stop lights in 30 cases, tail lights in 10, wheels in 26, windshield wiper 11, mirror 8 and horn 1. A grand total of 230 defects were, therefore, discovered by the testers, who are working with the cooperation of the Police Department.

The city fire apparatus was subjected to test, and with a few minor adjustments each piece passed the tests.

Those conducting the tests explained that apparently the majority of the headlights which failed to pass the test were adjusted for city lights, and not for the high intensity lights used in road driving. Many of the 230 defects found were declared by the officials to seriously impair the safety of driving.

The tests will be continued each day on St. Asaph street between Princess and Oronoco streets, and the service is free to all.

Plans for the observance of Confederate Memorial Day, May 24, have been made by the Mary Custis Lee-Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, U. D. C., and the Sons of Confederate Veterans, which include the placing of flags at the head of all graves of known Confederate dead in the local cemeteries. In view of the difficulty experienced in the past in locating some of these graves, all who have knowledge of their location are requested to communicate with Mrs. Dolly P Shepperson, Mrs. Charles W. Howell or R. Samuel Luckett, prior to May 20.

The Sons of Veterans have chosen Mrs. Walter McCaffrey as matron of honor to represent the local chapter at the annual grand encampment of the Confederate Veterans at Biloxi, Miss., in June. J. William May and Walter McCaffrey were appointed delegates to the convention.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will sponsor a card party on the afternoon and evening of May 26 for the benefit of the Stratford restoration fund, as the U. D. C. part of this work. Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson and Mrs. Harry D. Kirk are in charge of the affair, with Mrs. Sara Eddington in charge of prizes, and Mrs. E. L. Schafer, Mrs. J. R. Eddington, Mrs. Carroll May and Mrs. Carroll Woolif in charge of refreshments.

The Alexandria Commuters Association, at a meeting held in the Maury School Monday night, with W. S. Adams, vice president, in the chair, elected the following directors: Harry H. Newton, Emmette C. Davidson, Louis P. Woodward, Harold Abbey, Walter L. Nalls and C. W. Mahoney. The constitution previously adopted was amended to separate the offices of secretary and treasurer and C. Aubrey Callahan was chosen treasurer Mrs. Dolly P. Shepperson is secretary.

W. S. Adams was appointed a committee of one to confer with the city authorities relative to the grade crossing at North Braddock Station with the object of safeguarding motorists at this point.

Harold Abbey, chairman of the membership committee, reported that 62 members have been added since the last meeting.
